Charge of A 'Smear' Campaign

Willoughby Says He Was Blocked in Move On Spy Ring

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Japan's top investigating officer testified today the Russians knew a month before Pearl Harbor of the Japanese plan to strike at the United States and Britain in the Pacific.

The House unAmerican activities committee drew this testimony from Mitsusada Yoshikawa, chief of the special investigating bureau of the Japanese attorney general's office.

Yoshikawa testified that Sorge's spy apparatus sent a message to Moscow early in October, 1941, while U. S.-Japanese peace talks were going on in Washington. He quoted it as advising that "If America refuses to compromise by the middle of October, Japan will attack America, the Malay countries, Singapore and Sumatra.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby testified today that higher military authority overruled him when he sought in 1949 to "unmask" a far flung Soviet spy ring.

Willoughby, former military intelligence chief under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, gave his testimony before the Senate internal security subcommittee. It is looking into the question of whether there have been subversive influences on U. S. foreign policy.

Willoughby said "the best legal American talent in Tokyo" had approved as proper evidence a report naming writer Guenther Stein and the late Agnes Smedley as members of a Soviet spy ring in Japan.

He said Mrs. Smedley conducted "a smear campaign" against the report, which he had made public, and that "the War department public relations officer, in my recollection, and the secretary of war's office, then under Mr. Royall" squelched the report as a result.

He said the report met a fate of "indirect repudiation" when these men "indicated this report never should have been published."

Kenneth C. Royall, now a New York and Washington lawyer, was secretary of war at the time.

"No action ever was taken," Willoughby said. "Smedley never sued for libel (as she had threatened), and the case died for lack of further attention."

The committee has taken testimony that both Mrs. Smedley and Stein were connected with the Institute of Pacific Relations, private research organization founded in the 1920s with the announced objective of studying Far Eastern problems.

Said Stein "Implicated"

Willoughby said Stein was "thoroughly implicated" in the spy ring. He described Stein as an "itinerant journalist" and said he became a British citizen in Hong Kong in 1941.

When Willoughby mentioned Stein, Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, noted that previous testimony had linked Stein with the IPR.

Morris also said Stein was a British delegate to an IPR conference at Hot Springs, Ark., in 1945.

Willoughby said Stein was arrested this spring by French secret police on a charge of Soviet espionage and was deported from France.

Asked how he got this information, Willoughby said he learned it "through official channels."

Willoughby said Stein was "not

Speaks on Fair To Kiwanis

A preliminary review of what's coming to the Missouri State Fair August 18 through August 26, was given by P. V. Harris, assistant director, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker was introduced by Henry Salveter, program chairman for August.

President T. H. Yount urged members to plan to attend the 4th birthday anniversary party of the Versailles Kiwanis club next Tuesday night.

He also called attention to the board of directors meeting to be held at the home of Ed McLaughlin Friday evening, August 17, and appointed Chris Roose a member of the Inter Club Relations committee.

In song the club recognized the August birthday anniversaries of Dan Robinson, Robert A. Malone, C. L. Carter and Mike Giokaris.

Charles V. Knight, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was a guest of his father-in-law, George H. Scruton: and William D. Wilson, a guest of the club.

Heavy Snowfall In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 9—(AP)—The Sydney Sun reported today that southeastern Australia has been hit by its heaviest snowfall.

Hooert, its streets covered with two and one-half inches of snow, reported a temperature of 28.9 degrees—coldest in 49 years.

Swears in Daughter Upon Retirement

Major Lawrence E. Brown swears in his daughter, Beverly Jeannette, 21, as a second lieutenant in the WAC in Kansas City Aug. 8 just before he submitted his retirement papers. He is with the Field Records division of the Kansas City Record Center and formerly spent 19 years at the Carlisle, Pa., barracks. Beverly had been waiting two years to enter the army. She entered service under a special program for college graduates. She graduated from the University of Kansas City last June. (AP Wirephoto)

Blaik Plans To Continue As Head Coach

'Biff' Jones Asked Appointments to Good Players

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—(AP)—Earl (Red) Blaik announced today he planned to continue as head coach at the United States military academy where his football squad has been shattered by an exam-cribbing expose.

The 54-year-old retired colonel, coach of the army team for the last 10 years, made the announcement at a two-hour press conference attended by some 40 fans and sports writers.

"I feel I can best make the people understand these boys and their problems and that I can do the proper thing for our fine institution," the head coach said in his statement.

During the interview, Blaik said that approximately 50 per cent of the 90 involved cadets were athletes and "that all but a few of his 45-man football squad "were included."

He said that athletes from the baseball and basketball teams also were involved.

Asked To Name Good Players

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Col. Lawrence (Biff) Jones, former graduate manager of athletics at West Point, said today he had asked many senators and congressmen to appoint good football players to the U. S. military academy.

Jones retired as graduate manager in early 1948 and returned to his home here. He told a reporter that in the last three years he had visited members of Congress in their offices at the request of Col. Earl Blaik, head coach of the academy. He added:

"All received me graciously. I met some fine people on these calls. I was never rebuffed and no one gave any indication they resented my visits."

Earlier, a number of senators said they saw nothing wrong with the West Point policy of recruiting some high school football players. But other senators found fault with it.

"Forced to Squeal"

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—Harold Loehlein, captain-elect of army's 1951 football team, said today he was forced, with the threat of prison, to "squeal" on his teammates in the exam-cribbing scandal at the U. S. military academy.

The Kimball, Minn., youth, one of 90 facing dismissal for violation of the academy's honor code, told his story in a by-line article written for the New York Journal American.

"They kept hammering at me," he related. "Even if I knew my rights, which I now know, I would have told my part in the cheating. But I wouldn't have told about the others. I didn't want to squeal on my teammates."

Loehlein said he was handed a long sheet of paper by the examining colonel and told to check the names of those who cribbed.

"I checked 20 names," he said.

Shenker Not to Give up Politics

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)—Criminal lawyer Morris A. Shenker has no intention of getting out of politics.

Shenker, who gained national attention when he served as counsel for key witness berofe the Senate Crime Investigating committee, said it is the duty of all citizens to participate in politics.

He is a Democrat and has been active in party affairs here.

Two other prominent Democrats, Mayor Joseph H. Darst and John J. Nangle, Democratic National committeeman for Missouri, have suggested Shenker give up either his law practice or politics.

They feel his role in helping noted gambling figures may hurt the party's chances in Missouri.

Republicans won two elections in St. Louis this year after basing their campaign on attacks against Shenker.

Two Killed in Bus-Car Crash

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)— Two persons were killed and 11 others were injured in the crash of a Greyhound bus and a car in the rain near here today.

The dead were identified as Luther Tate, 40, of Eagles Grove, Iowa, and Darlene Cooper, 30 of Fort Dodge, Iowa., both riding in the car.

St. Louis county authorities said the crash occurred as the car pulled into U. S. highway 50 a few miles west of here near the

The westbound bus, on its way to Tulsa, Okla., was spun around in the road by the impact and struck the car a second time before it rolled over on its side in a ravine. The car was demolished.

McCarthy is Giving Names To Senate

'No Doubt,' He Says, All be Cleared By Loyalty Board

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Senator McCarthy listed to the Senate today what he said were the names of over 20 State Department officials and employes whose loyalty is under question. He topped his roll call with Ambassador Philip C. Jessup as "the prize of them all."

The State Department shortly got out a statement in which it said the Wisconsin Republican had used "smear tactics" and was deliberately violating the fundamental tenet of "freedom from intimidation."

The statement said McCarthy's list includes the names of "persons who are not employes of the Department of State, employes who have been cleared by the department's loyalty security board, as well as individuals in process throngh the loyalty program."

No names were mentioned in the statement.

In his Senate speech, McCarthy declared that Jessup, ambassador-at-large, has "negotiated with the Russians much as Hiss negotiated with them at Yalta."

The Wisconsin Republican declared that Jessup, U. S. Ambassador at large, has "negotiated with the Russians much as Hiss negotiated with them at Yalta."

This was a reference to Alger Hiss, former State Department offical now serving a prison term on conviction of lying when he swore he never gave secret papers

Police Startled By Gunshot

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Accidental discharge of a riot gun startled police headquarters today and briefly interrupted the questioning of Mrs. Margaret Sims, held as a suspected accessory to the kidnap-murder of Matt Jones.

Sterling Ford, a detective, began checking a riot gun before placing it in a police car while he was waiting outside the office of Lt. Harry Nesbit, head of the homicide bureau who was interrogating Mrs. Sims.

The blast tore a huge section of plaster from the ceiling of the room and from a side wall.

Nesbit and other police officers rushed to the scene, where the white-faced Ford mumbled, "I didn't know it was loaded."

Remove Nail From Neck of a Baby

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)—A nail was removed through a two-inch hole in the neck of eight-months-old Cynthia Louise Fitzmier in an unusual operation at St. Louis Children's hospital.

Cynthia swallowed the nail Friday while playing on the floor at her home.

The hole originally had been cut so she could breathe.

Yesterday doctors inserted a length of rubber with a powerful magnet tip and removed the nail in just a few minutes.

Doctors said she was doing fine and will "be home in a couple of days."

Fourteen New Teachers in Schools Here

Calendar in the 1951-52 Schedule Is Re-arranged

Sedalia's School Board appointed 14 new teachers for the coming school year at its monthly meeting at Smith-Cotton high school Wednesday night.

Board members present were: Dr. Floyd L. Lively, A. L. Hawkins, Harry Brougher and Herman Bloess.

Appointments were made possible by the May levy, which gave the Board more money upon which to operate. Of the new 14 teachers, 11 will teach in the elementary schools, while three will be high school instructors.

New elementary teachers are as follows: Ruth Moore, Jane Wilson, Kenneth Cordry, Bob Edmondson, Ardonia Byrd (to teach at Hubbard), Bernadine Dennis, Ella Dean Brereton, Gwendolyn Tuck, Ralpha Perry, Mary Sisk, and Mrs. George Knox.

3 Added To High School Staff

The high schol teachers are John Pope, who will teach the drivers training course at Smith-Cotton, Sheldon Toliver, who will teach and coach at Hubbard high, and Dorris Hobson, who will also teach at Hubbard.

All non-certificated school employees custodians, secretaries, nurses and attendance officer—now will be included in Social Security program. The Board agreed to participate in the program for they felt it better than the retirement plan they now have in force.

Social Security for the non-certificated employees will be compulsory. The cost will be 1½ per cent pay-roll deduction for employees, and an equal amount contributed by the Board of Education. This action follows action of many schools over the state. The plan will be retroactive to January 1, 1951. All employees are required to work 18 months in the system 18 month after Jan. 1, 1951 before they can qualify.

New Calendar Adopted

Due to the present building situation at Smith-Cotton and other schools, a new school calendar was adopted for the coming school year by the Board. It is as follows:

School begins on Sept. 10 (one week late).

Dismiss for Missouri State Teachers meeting in St. Louis, (probably in November.)

Dismiss Thursday and Friday,

Prepare to House Visitors to Fair

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce has received wonderful cooperation from the people of Sedalia in listing rooms for the visitors for the Missouri State Fair.

The hotels and motels are practically filled and the Chamber of Commerce office is a busy place trying to take care of the people who are writing for rooms.

The list of room is so big this year that there will be more rooms than people but the C. of C. is making an effort to fill all rooms possible. They have in their files exactly what kind of rooms each person listed has and are attempting to find the right room for each one who writes in asking for certain accommodations. Otherwise they are trying to take them as the listing came in.

It is a rush this time of year in the Chamber of Commerce office with telephones buzzing and people coming in and letters stacking up. The young women in the office are doing the best they can to keep everybody happy in the annual big housing event in Sedalia.

MacArthur Denies Stock in Brewery

BOSTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union today made public a denial penned by Gen. Douglas MacArthur that he owns stock in a Manila brewery.

Mrs. E. V. Brunemeier of Placentia, alif., director of the Southern California Loyal Temperance Legion, a WCTU children's affiliate, wrote the general asking about reports 'that he is part owner of a Manila brewery and took along beer to meet the President at Wake Island."

Woman Slain At Eureka

Clues Meager as to Killer of Mrs. Null in Orchard

EUREKA, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—Officers had only meager clues today in the savage slaying of Mrs. Lillian Null, 58, whose semi-nude body was found last night in an apple orchard at the rear of her home here.

The body was clad only in a waist-length nightgown. Mrs. Null had been beaten with a blunt object, which has not been found.

Coroner Arnold J. Willman said she suffered two fractures of the jaw, two crushed ribs, an injury of the right eye and neck bruises which may have been inflicted in a choking attempt.

A cursory examination showed no indication of a criminal attack, Willman said.

Mrs. Null, who lived alone, had not been seen since last Sunday. Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley left last night for Fulton, Mo., where the woman's husband, Grover, is a patient in the state hospital.

Mosley said he learned the man was confined there in 1941. Hospital authorities told him, he added, that Null has not been away from the institution for the past 10 years.

Vaccination at Reedsburg, Wis.

REEDSBURG, Wis., Aug., 9—(AP)—Thousands of persons from Reedsburg and the surrounding area were calm and co-operative today as they queued up for smallpox vaccinations at a makeshift clinic in the local high school.

The illness of a farm woman living nearby was diagnosed Tuesday as smallpox, the first such case here in 15 years. City health officer Otto Riggert immediately ordered vaccinations or quarantine for everyone within an eight-mile radius of this central Wisconsin city of 4,300. Public gatherings were banned; churches closed their doors.

Proposes Traitors Be Executed

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 9—(AP)—Senator Duff (R-Pa.) said today that traitors in this country who plot with Russia to destroy the United States should be hanged.

In a speech prepared for the American Legion's Pennsylvania state convention, Duff also declared Russia has proposed "a fake cease-fire" in Korea and this week offered a "fake peace proposal."

The former Pennsylvania governor said it would be a "fatal mistake" for America to let up in its defense mobilization because of these Communist moves.

He said Americans "have fallen for enough Communist propaganda in this country since the end of World War II."

Mother Plunged Into a Well And Saved Child

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 9—(AP)—She couldn't swim a stroke, but Mrs. Mildred McDowell didn't even think of that when her 18-month-old daughter fell into a well.

She quickly jumped into the 30-foot well, held her daughter above water and kept her own head out of the water by hanging onto the rocky side of the well until both were rescued.

The baby, Janet, is home now, none the worse for her experience. Mrs. McDowell has one reminder—a badly rope-burned left hand.

The rescue occurred last weekend when Mrs. McDowell and her husband, E. L. McDowell, drove to Nevada, Mo., to visit his brother Otis McDowell.

The men folks were about a mile away fishing when, Mrs. McDowell, related, a metal covering over the well gave away and she saw her baby drop out of sight.

"I screamed and ran for the well," she said. "I can't recall just what happened, but I must have jumped into the well."

McDowell heard the women screaming loudly and blowing the car horns. He and his fishing companions "piled into the cars and took off across the field toward the house."

George Pevac, a friend, got there first.

"There was about 15 feet of water down there and it occurred to me that Mildred couldn't swim," McDowell said.

"George climbed down, got Janet and passed her up to us. Then he handed Mildred a rope and tried to pull her out."

"That didn't work," Mrs. McDowell said, displaying her bandaged hand.

Pevac re-entered the well and helped the mother climb out.

Fifteen Die in Texas Heat Wave

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 9—(AP)—Texas counted 15 persons dead today from the current heat wave that has scorched the state for almost two weeks. In at least four other deaths, heat was listed as a contributing cause.

Weather observers said there was only a little relief in sight.

Houston reported two deaths from heat strokes last night — Victor Emanuel Anderson, 51 and Mrs. Dorothy Good, 64.

Expect Truce Talks to be Up Quickly

Renewal of Them Appears to be Without Delay

(By John M. Hightower)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Highly placed officials here expect the Korean truce talks to be resumed quickly.

The opinion at both the state department and Pentagon appears to be that the latest message from the Communist commanders fulfills Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's conditions. Ridgway has demanded guarantees that the neutrality of Kaesong would be respected by the Reds.

Authorities told this reporter they attach no particular significance to the tone of the Red message.

The said the final decision was up to Ridgway, but they clearly expect him shortly to tell the Reds that the United Nations truce team is ready to return to Kaesong.

There is a basic conviction here that the Communists would like to see the negotiations turn out successfully provided a reasonable armistice arrangement can be made.

Milk Price Hike To be Sought

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)—A request for a hike of 40 cents a hundredweight in class I milk prices was made of the department of agriculture yesterday in a stormy hearing.

The request was made by the sanitary milk producers, a marketing co-operative group. A spokesman said the increase would mean a one-cent per quart price rise for consumers.

The spokesman, Russell Spaulding, general manager of the association, engaged in a heated exchange with Karl P. Spencer, attorney for a group of 18 milk handlers, over how many producers the association represents.

"I refuse to answer," Spaulding declared.

"Is it over 70 per cent?" Spencer persisted.

Spaulding again refused to name a figure but said it was "a substantial majority."

Spaulding added he knew the percentage but felt the question was "irrelevant."

During his testimony Spaulding said the increase was needed to prevent an acute milk shortage in the St. Louis area in fall and winter months.

In the 1950 season, he added, 20,000,000 pounds of milk had to be imported from outside the St. Louis milk shed at a time feed prices and other costs are highest.

The association also asked that the marketing area be extended to include all of St. Louis county and the city of Belleville, Ill.

A hearing of milk prices for the Springfield, Mo., area will be held later. All decisions on price changes are made by the secretary of agriculture.

Road Oil is Lost in Blaze

Communists Anxious To Resume Talks

Ask It of UN In Reply to a Message From General Ridgway

By Olen Clements

TOKYO, Aug. 9—(AP)—Communist leaders in Korea asked the United Nations to resume cease-fire talks today and said there would be no further violations of the cease-fire zone unless they were created by the allies.

Differing versions of the Red reply to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway were intercepted in San Francisco and Tokyo. Both were from the Peiping radio.

An English language broadcast heard in San Francisco said the Reds told Ridgway things would go smoothly "unless you should deliberately fabricate incidents as an excuse to terminate the armistice negotiations."

An earlier Peping broadcast heard here and translated from Chinese to Japanese to English worded the phase this way: "As long as you have no intention of creating incidents."

The long delayed reply to a message the U.N. commander sent Tuesday was linked with a Red complaint the allies themselves had violated a neutrality agreement. This complaint was rejected as unfounded.

An open Communist violation of Kaesong's neutrality had led Ridgway to break off negotiations until the Reds guaranteed it wouldn't happen again.

Tuesday Ridgway demanded "complete compliance."

The Reds replied, according to the translated version:

"We have already solemnly guaranteed strict adherence" to the agreement.

This phrase was significantly omitted from the English version as carried by Hsinhua, a Chinese Communist news agency.

In both translations, the top Red leaders said they had issued new orders that their soldiers observe the neutrality agreement. And both expressed hope that Ridgway whould send his negotiations back to Kaesong to resume negotiations.

No Indication on Answer

There was no immediate indication of when General Ridgway would reply nor of when armistice negotiations might be resumed.

Red China's broadcast came a few hours after Communists protested allied planes had violated a safe conduct pledge for truce convoys.

Top Communist negotiator, Lt. Gen. Nam Il, said a truce truck bearing white flags was machine-gunned Tuesday enroute from Kaesong to the Red capital at Pyongyang.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the U.N. truce delegation, promptly rejected the protest as invalid. He said Reds had not announced the time and route the truck would travel, as required.

And Joy openly wondered whether the Reds "are abusing the use of white markings," supposed to be used exclusively by truce teams.

Chinese and North Korean commanders, in their message to Ridgway, said they would protest any apparent violation connected with negotiation agreements.

Their statement was a reply to a strongly worded declaration Ridgway had broadcast 51 hours earlier.

The Communist message was signed by North Korean Premier Gen. Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Teh-Huai, commander of Chinese forces in Korea.

Their message, as broadcast by

Getting Helpers For C of C Booth

The civic clubs are in the process of lining up helpers for the Chamber of Commerce information booth which will be operated at the Missouri State Fair August 18-26.

There will be two men on each of the three shifts each day of the fair with the following clubs scheduled: Optimist club August 18-19; Rotary club August 20-21; Lions club August 22-23; Kiwanis club August 24-25; Junior Chamber of Commerce August 26.

The Business and Professional Women's club will take the shift from 4 to 8 p. m. every day with a total of 18 workers for the week.

Mrs. Hansel Morris and Mrs. Nellie Asher from the Chamber of Commerce will supervise the booth and one of the two will be in the stand each day.

Scrap Pends Over Troops

Connally States May Need Over Six Divisions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) said today the United States may have to put more than six divisions of troops into the North Atlantic defense army in Europe.

Connally made the statement to reporters shortly after a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations committee with Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. However, he emphasized he was only giving his opinion.

Bradley gave no indication such a move was in the wind, Connally said. The general was before the Foreign Relations group, which Connally heads, to discuss military assistance to U. S. allies.

Another troops-to-Europe scrap—one of the hot issues earlier in this Congress—already is developing in the House. It is shaping up in connection with a $56,000,000,000 defense appropriation bill.

Rep. Coudert (R-NY) told newsmen he has "Republican leadership backing" and some Democrat support for an amendment to limit to six divisions the number of American troops that may be assigned to General Dwight D. Eisenhower's European defense army.

Down Amendment

His admendment, similar to one defeated by a 163 to 158 vote in the House several months ago on the draft bill, would deny use of any funds for transportation or maintenance of more than six divisions for the western European army being set up under the Atlantic Pact agreement.

Delay to Price Rollbacks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The government today delayed indefinitely the price rollbacks it had hoped to order next week.

It did this by postponing the compulsory effective dates of six major manufacturers' price regulations.

Harold Leventhal, general counsel of the Office of Price Stabilization, said the action was necessary to give the agency time to apply changes made by Congress last month in the defense production act.

Besides the general manufacturers' regulation, other price orders on which the effective date will be delayed are: Machinery, cotton textiles, shoes, apparel and wool yarns and fabrics.

All except the apparel regulation were due to be effective next Monday. The apparel order would have been effective Aug. 15th.

Seize Equipment For Gambling

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—State investigators seized several truckloads of crated gambling equipment valued at $30,000 at this horse racing center last night.

They said today that the equipment had been found in a storage warehouse.

Not Try Channel Swim This Year

LONDON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Miami's aqua-tots, Bubba and Kathy Tongay, won't be swimming the English channel this yerr.

Their father, Russell Tongay, told reporters today he had abandoned any hope of making the attempt, but might try in 1952.

Red Cross Fund Over $2,000,000 in Relief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The Red Cross said that contributions to its fund to aid flood victims in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Illinois have climbed above the $2,000,000 mark. It has asked for $5,000,000.

Ninteen Perish In Italy Flood

COMO, Italy, Aug. 9—(AP)—At least 19 persons have been killed in a flood which continued its wild rampage in this area today after 36 hours of heavy rain. Several score are reported injured or missing and one village is completely isolated.

Seventeen of the deaths were caused by the breaking of the Domaso dike, which sent a great wall of water crashing into Gera Lario, a village of 700 people.

Looks For Rise In Living Costs

ATLANTA, Aug. 9—(AP)—Living costs are likely to go up 5 to 8 per cent, says Michael DiSalle, boss of the office of price stabilization.

DiSalle said in an interview here last night that the OPS was going to try its best to tie prices down, but that he didn't see how this could be done under the new price control laws.

He predicted that the next 12 months would see from 10 to 16 billion dollars added to family budgets.

New Kits For Cops Catch Everything, But the Night Stick Is Here to Stay

MENACCING: A couple of visiting police chiefs inspect left to right a new tear-gas gun and a tommy gun, designed to frighten crooks as well as to shoot at them.

By Richard Kleiner
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—If you're toying with the idea of forging a check, don't Ditto stealing a car, burglarizing a home or killing a neighbor.

Police chiefs have just had a look at a collection of the latest devices for crime detection which should make any would-be lawbreakers stop, look and go straight.

For $225, any police department can equip itself with a big black valise which opens up into a formidable looking laboratory. It's called the Professional Investigation Kit. It does everything but cross-examine a witness.

Among other things, it can be used to detect narcotics, test for blood stains, examine laundry marks, find forgeries, restore obliterated numbers such as car serial numbers, examine dental work and take and compare finger prints—even post-mortem fingerprints.

It has a portable ultra-violet light and some jars of powder which only show up under the light. A New Jersey community bought a kit and that same day turned up a pickpocket with the ultra-violet detector. He had long been suspected, so some of the powder was put on a purse and exposed to him. He dipped into it, was arrested and, under the light his fingers glowed with a tell-tale green color.

The forgery-detection part of the apparatus consists of a few bottles of chemicals. A check that is suspected is treated with one fluid which shows up even the slightest erasure or scratch. Another chemical can restore the original figures.

Another new piece of police equipment is a handcuff called the iron claw. It has only one bracelet, which is attached to a big handle, like a corkscrew handle. The policeman snaps the bracelet over the suspect's wrist.

Then he can turn the handle until the ratchets inside clamp the bracelet tight. Should the criminal act up, a little more pressure and he could be forced down on the ground with a badly aching wrist.

Light weight is the key in other advances in police paraphernalia. There's a brand new lightweight Summer shirt for policemen, made out of a tropical worsted. The manufacturers feel that officers have a right to feel comfortable in the summer.

And there are lightweight revolvers, too. One, called a "Chief's Special," is a 19-ounce, short revolver that is a .38 caliber. Another is even lighter, only 15 ounces, and is made of aluminum.

There's a new sub-machine gue.

There's a new sub-machine gun, menacing as possible. The salesman explained that would-be criminals are often deterred by the mere sight of an awesome looking weapon in the hands of the police.

About the only thing that has not changed is the old-fashioned nightstick. That, the policemen say, is just about perfect the way it is.

Signs Bill to Pension Judges

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith signed into law Wednesday a judicial retirement bill.

Effective Oct. 9, it provides that:

Any judge of a circuit, common pleas, criminal corrections or appellate court may retire when he reaches 65 years of age if he has served at least 12 years on the bench. For the rest of his life then he would get one-third his full pay.

But to get the retirement pay he has to accept a job as special commissioner or referee. And he must take temporary duty on the bench if he is called by the state supreme court.

Measure Caused Big Fuss

The measure caused a big fuss in the House by members who said judges already are getting well enough paid to take care of their old age themselves. Best paid judges in the state are those on the supreme court bench. They get $12,000 a year.

Smith also approved a bill to permit Missouri ham radio station operators to buy automobile tags carrying their station call letters instead of the regular numbers. Smith said he had more requests that the bill be signed than "all the other bills put together." He added that Director of Revenue G. H. Bates, the man who must supply the extraordinary car tags, wanted the bill vetoed.

As payment for the special consideration, the governor said the ham station operators will have to pay the regular auto tag fee plus an additional dollar.

County Treasurers Get Raise

The governor said he "debated for quite a while before I signed" another bill. It gives county treasurers a boost in pay.

The state director of revenue would supply lists of intangible taxpayers in each county. The county treasurers would send the forms to the taxpayers.

For that the treasurers of Jackson, Buchanan, Green and Jasper counties would get $1,000 a year more than their present salaries.

The increase for the St. Louis county treasurer would be set by the county council.

Third class county treasurers would get $800 a year more and fourth class treasurers would get $600 additional.

Reds Can't Hide Interest in West Berlin Visit

Another Arrest Made In Matt Jones Murder

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 9—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Orrita Sims, 31, hunted since Monday on a warrant charging her as an accessory in the slaying of a circuit court witness, was taken into custody on Wednesday.

She was arrested by detectives in Kansas City, Kas., after an attorney said arrangements had been made for her to surrender voluntarily at public headquarters.

Police said she gave evasive answers concerning a trip last week to St. Louis and Chicago with Seldom Seen, 68-year-old Negro charged along with two others with first degree murder in the slaying of Matt Jones.

Jones was to have appeared as a witness in several contempt of court cases.

Bridal Shower Given Miss Dick

Miss Joanna Dick, who is to be married to Hubert L. Dotson, Saturday at nine a. m. at Sacred Heart church, was honored with a lawn party and shower given by Miss Lucille Parkhurst and Mrs. Gerald King at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Finley, 1509 South Missouri, Thursday August 2.

Games were played and Miss Dick opened her gifts, which she found through use of a Treasure Map.

Refreshments were served in the yard.

Those attending were the honoree, her mother Mrs. August Dick, Misses Genieve Dick, Dorothy Dick, Mary Behen, Irene Brown, Elaine Paxton, Patricia Shaw, Mary Smith, Gilda Bruehl, Mary Lou Ash, Mary Lou Adams, Mrs. Beryl Vaughn, Mrs. Bernice Gramlich, Mrs. Jean Pettis, Mrs. Virginia Bohon, Mrs. Venus Sweatt, Mrs. Sue Whenry, Mrs. Jessie McFarland, Mrs. Frances Meyers, Mrs. Smith Parkhurst and Mrs. W. H. Finley.

Piano Recital At Knob Noster

Miss Mary V. Hogen of Knob Noster, presented some of her piano pupils from Warrensburg, La Monte and Knob Noster in a recital at the Knob Noster Presbyterian church Saturday morning. The mothers of the pupils were special guests.

The church was decorated with garden flowers.

The program included piano solos, duets, and a trio, and vocal solos by Mrs. Leonard Reavis of La Monte, and Miss Dorothy Wasson of Knob Noster.

Mrs. Reavis sang, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Love's Old Sweet Song," and Miss Wasson sang, "The Lass With the Delicate Air" by Arne.

Pupils who took part were: Marilyn and Nedra Simmons, Elizabeth Baile, Bettie Ann Lamonte, Lavonne Harding, Freddie and Eldon Wintermeyer and Glenna Gene Baldwin of Warrensburg; Nancy Reavis of La Monte; and Patsy Ann Anderson, Gloria Howerton, Doris Bailey, Ina Jean Crowley, Marcia Ginn, Delores Norman, Brenda Lee Gatschet, Lucille and Melvin Collett, Barbara Lane, Norma Sue Oldfather, Janet Neitzert, Mary Lou Hicks, Rose Evelyn Parrott, Mary Lee Lyle, Mary Beard, Shirley Benz, Dean Parrott, Dorothy and Joyce Lane, and Lynnel Blaylock of Knob Noster.

Church News Of Near-by Towns

A program was presented at the Syracuse Baptist church Sunday afternoon which consisted of a special number by the choir, a cornet solo "Memories," by Miss Anne Neal, accompanied by Mrs. Hadley Stahl and a vocal solo by the pastor, the Rev. Wayne Masters.

The memorial address was delivered by the Rev. Lynn Richardson of Slater, a former chaplain in World War II. He served in the Japan area. He told of the need of missionaries in Japan.

The past five years the Syracuse community has given to the support of a missionary Miss Cecile Lancaster, working in Japan.

At the close of the service an offering of $1,119.35 was taken. A basket dinner was served at the noon hour.

The following program was presented Wednesday evening at the Otterville Baptist church honoring the Sunbeam babies of that church with Mrs. F. L. Cole presiding. Prelude, song and prayer, were followed by a greeting by Mrs. R. Hansen. Sunbeam Babies by Mrs. Mary Bishop, Sunbeams by Mrs. W. H. Coffman, devotional by Mrs. Ino Muncy, special music was "God Gives Us Christian Homes." Mothers Poem by Mrs. Lula Bryan, reading, "What Makes Our Country Great" by Miss Mary Holman.

Games were supervised by Mrs. Lula Bryan and refreshments served by Mrs. Mary Burford and Mrs. Lucile Williams.

The following Sunbeam babies were present: Harvey and Billy Jo Meyer, children of Mrs. Nancy Meyer, Barbara Ann Routt, daughter of Mrs. John Routt, Tona Jeanne and Terry Dean Bryan, children of Mrs. Virgil Bryan, Jr., Mary Leona Stahl, daughter of Mrs. Grover Stahl, Jimmie Hansen, son of Mrs. Raymond Hansen.

C. T. Sharon to Parsons, Kas.

Charles T. Sharon, 600 West Fifth, has been appointed assistant general claim agent for the Missouri, Kansas, Texas railroad with headquarters at Parsons, Kas.

Mr. Sharon was born in Moberly where he attended school and junior college. He was graduated from the University of Missouri law school in 1933 with a L. L. B. degree and is a member of the Phi Delta Phi fraternity. He is a member of the Missouri Bar Association, Knights of Columbus and the B.P.O.E. Elks.

In 1939 Mr. Sharon began work for the M.K.T. and came to Sedalia as claim agent in 1940. He was married in 1943 to Miss Agnes Sullivan of this city who for several yars was with the faculty of Smith Cotton high school. They have one son, Tommy Pat, seven years old.

The Sharon family will leave Sunday for Parsons where they will be at home at 111 South Park.

Will of Mrs. Neece Is Filed For Probate

The will in the estate of the late Mrs. Maude Helms Neece, who died August 5, 1951, was filed in the Probate court today.

The will named as heirs: one brother, Clark Woolery; the Mount Nebo cemetery at Pleasant Green and the New Lebanon cemetery at New Lebanon and her widower, Erastus Sprig Neece of Denver.

The will named Charles Hanley as executor.

Attorney for the estate is Henry C. Salveter.

Grant Liquor License

A package liquor license was issued by the County court today to Mary Lou Bonds for the Main Street Cut Rate Drug Store at Main and Ohio.

The license expires June 30, 1952.

Democrat Picnic On August 14

The Democrats of Pettis county will hold a picnic and basket dinner, Tuesday, August 14, at 6:30 p.m. at Liberty Park.

All Democrats in this community and their families are invited to attend and are requested to bring their own basket of food for the picnic supper.

The speaker for the picnic will be James Meridith of Portageville, Mo. Mr. Meridith is a past officer of the Young Demorcats club of Missouri, a national committeeman from Missouri to the 1948 Democrat convention and is well known in this section of the state as a speaker and lawyer.

Invitations to the picnic have been sent to the county and city committeemen and they are all urged to be present.

Historic Program By Boosters

The fourth and final outdoor programs sponsored by the Missouri Pacific Booster club will be held Friday evening in the band stand at Liberty park at 8 p.m.

The program is entitled "The History of Railroading" and will be staged by the Pettis County Historical Society. The program will consist of a fashion show of old time costumes, some of them over 100 years old, and will be modled by Sedalia people. There will be old time songs by a quartette, several solos, and a selection of dances all of which make a very entertaining and interesting program. There will also show some colored slides on the progress of railroads since their beginning.

The program will be in charge of J. L. Curry, and the slides will be shown by J. O. Jenkins. The public is welcome to attend the final of the series of programs and see these slides as well as the fine program which has been prepared.

Parties Given at Melita Nursery

August 8 was a big day at the Melita Day Nursery.

Mrs. Clarence Stone sent ice cream and cookies to the Melita Day nursery to celebrate the birthday of her daughter, Mary Margaret, which was that day.

Every year, Mrs. L. Chasnoff of Hollywood, Calif., provided a treat for the Melita Day nursery on the 8th of August, the date of the birth of her son Joesph Chasnoff, who was killed in a St. Louis fire. Mrs. Chasnoff died and now her other son, David Chasnoff, of Kansas City, has continued the custom and sent a check to cover the cost of a party for the nursery which was given today. The children enjoyed it very much the treats which lasted two days.

Charles Selken Be a Livestock Judge

The Eldon Chamber of Commerce has announced that they have chosen Paul Selken of Smithton as livestock judge at their fair which will be held August 9th, 10th and 11th.

Selken will also judge the Miller county 4-H club show and the championship showman contest for all junior exhibitors.

The dairy show is one of the main attractions of that part of dairy country.

Chain Reaction

GUELPH, Ont.—(AP)—Restaurateur Joe Contini cracked an egg for his breakfast on the side of a frying pan. Into the pan dropped the yolk, the white and a second egg. The smaller egg had no yolk.

Most species of sturgeon enter fresh water only to spawn.

Marriage License Issued

County Recorder Malachi O'Brien, issued the following marriage licenses today: Floyd Thomason, Jr. of Hughesville and Patricia Carver of Sedalia and Edward Callis, Jr. of Hughesville and Clayta Kathryn Teater of Blairstown.

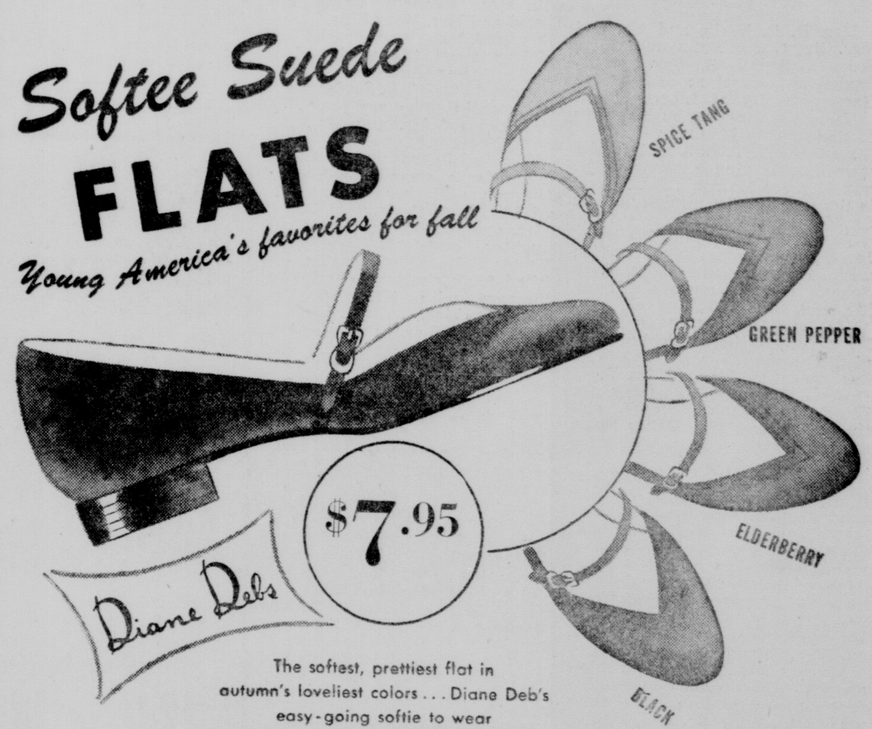

Collect $14 From Overtime Parkers

In police court, this morning, 14 dollars were collected in overtime parking bonds which were forfeited when defendants failed to appear in court. One defendant, Henri Mos, had five tickets calling for five $1.00 bonds.

Neil McBrown, Fortuna and Wade L. Faulwell, Otterville, both forfeited $2.00 cash bonds for blocking sidewalks in the 100 block on West Broadway.

Prolific Ewe Puts Youngster in Business

EL PASO, Tex.—(AP)—A four-year-old Hampshire ewe, named Chubby, has put her young owner into the sheep breeding business.

Donald Leslie, El Paso county club boy, reports that Chubby has brought him eight lambs in three years. Her first offsprings were twin lambs and the ast two years she has come up with triplets.

Donald is using this high production as a foundation for a sheep flock. He plans to work on multiple birth with the flock.

Love Symbols Of Early Days In Old West

By Hal Boyle

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Aug. 9—(AP)—When a guest departs, he usually drops his host a bread-and-butter note.

And on leaving South Dakota, I'd like to write a thank-you note to a state where I've had a world of fun and good food. The main thing South Dakotans complain about is that the rest of America doesn't seem to know what they've got out here in "the land of infinite variety."

"Maybe you'd better start off your article by pointing out that South Dakota is one of the 48 states," an editor remarked dryly.

What do they have out here, where the deer and the antelope played and the buffalo roamed well, you can still find buffalo, deer and antelope—and some of the nation's greatest Indian reservations.

They've got 10 gallon hats, ear-to-ear grins, and a mile-deep gold mine. They've got endless miles of waving corn and wheat, and rolling oceans of grass studded with fattening herds of cattle, they've got dinosaur tracks in stone. And not far away they've got a big B-36 airbase, where modern monsters of the sky rise to guard our northern frontiers.

Old and New West

South Dakota is a mixture of the old west and the new west. The tourists love the legends and symbols of the old west, such as the small cemetery above Deadwood, where Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane lie side by side. Or they like to visit the Homestake mine, which has yielded more than $550,000,000 in gold since 1875.

The Indians are still willing to play Indian for the tourists. But for themselves they like to play cowboy.

"Most of them prefer to dress like cowboys," said one oldtimer. "And their ambition is to be ranchers."

The buffalo are on government preserves now and can thumb their beards at hunters. But sportsmen fly from both coasts here to hunt Chinese pheasants. They are almost as beautiful as birds of paradise.

All South Dakotans love their famous Black Hills, a wonderland of fish and game where the Indians believed the Great Spirit of Manitou dwelt. Once a year they made a pilgrimage into the hills to fashion their arrowheads and tomahawks.

Several years ago a few Sioux braves climbed atop Bear Butte, a former Indian signal post, for a fast in honor of Manitou that lasted several days. When they came down, spiritually exultant but physically starved, a white man asked what they'd like to eat first.

Ice Cream First

"Ice cream," grunted the first brave.

The Black Hills are free of snakes, and Potato Creek Johnny, an old prospector, used to tell why. He said all the snakes in the hills once attended a convention and decided to hold a sun dance. As they were circling, one lazy snake caught on to the tail of the snake ahead in order to get a free ride. Soon all had done the same thing.

"Then they got hungry and began to swallow," Johnny said. "The more they swallowed the smaller the circle got. Finally they all just swallowed each other up—and the circle disappeared."

And there hasn't been a snake in the Black Hills since.

The Badlands, where the morning sun flickers in brilliant colors on stones eroded in fantastic shapes by wind and rain, are like you would imagine the surface of the moon to be. Some one in our car asked what I thought they resembled. "Like my bedroom on an average morning," I replied absentimindley.

"Oh, they do," said my wife, Frances. And after that there was silence in the car for several miles.

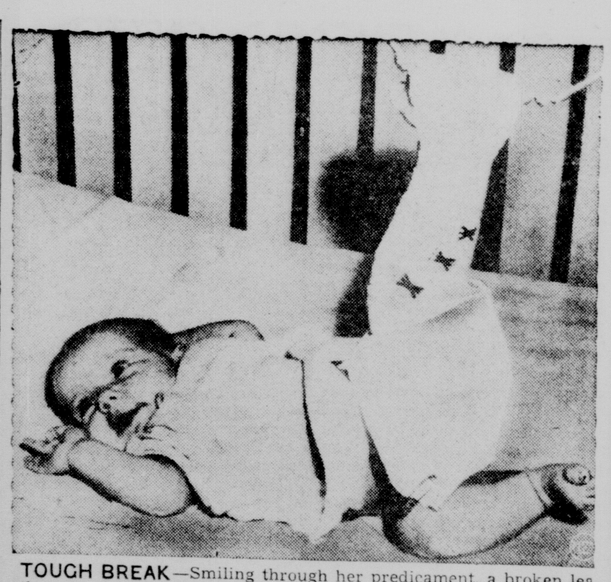

We rode across the surging prairies, huge waves of eternal grass, great green factories for the hereford flesh that feeds the cities. And then came sweet fields of the Sioux river valley, lush with oats and corn ripening toward harvest.

Fifteen years ago these tremendous acres had been sunburned into "the dust bowl," and the land sickened. But then the years of the rains came, and the land healed itself and tired people who had stuck stubbornly with it.

Today South Dakota is tanned, healthy and happy—and has a cash balance in the state treasury.

Yes, they've got everything out here. Everything except a subway.

To a city boy that's one of the nicest things about South Dakota. It takes people with a real sense of values to refrain from building subways.

TOUGH BREAK—Smiling through her predicament, a broken leg that must be kept in tension for five weeks, is two-month-old Judy Ann Gilpin of St. Paul, Kans. The baby's mother, carrying her through their home still covered with silt from the recent flood, slipped and fell dropping the child.

Easy Does It

MONTREAL—(AP)—The owner of an 18-ton bulldozer was ordered in Quebec superior court to pay $345.65 damages when the machine cracked the cement foundation of a house under construction while operating on the property. The owner of the house testified that he had warned the operator of the bulldozer not to come too close to the foundations.

Chinese Nationalist Waste Could Be Avoided

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, August 9, 1951—Much of the waste of Chinese Nationalist war supplies could be avoided if the millions of dollars worth of munitions we have sent to Formosa were handled direct by the U. S. government and supervised by us.

Instead, a peculiar system of middlemen is used, thereby permitting graft, rake-off and cumshaw to creep in. It's suspected that part of this is to help finance the China lobby which at times has had powerful influence in the U. S. Senate. Just who is getting the rake-offs remains a mystery.

Here is one illustration of how 2,956,170 gallons of aviation gasoline was ordered for the Chinese air force on Formosa, a purchase costing a cool million dollars.

This order was placed on Jan. 1, 1950 — not during the hectic war days when the state department white paper tells of widespread graft in the Chinese army.

But though conditions were relatively peaceful in January, 1950, and the Korean war had not started, this huge quantity of gasoline was handled by the Chung Foo company, a broker in Formosa. The Chinese air force procurement office in Washington was merely informed by cable that the 2,956,170-gallon order had been placed with this broker.

This was peculiar on the face of it, because the Chinese air force had its own office in Washington for the specific purpose of buying these supplies. Another peculiar aspect was that the price was fixed as of September, 1949—or 33.82 cents a gallon. This actually was a higher price than the Chinese needed to pay, for, by January, 1950, the price had dropped.

San Francisco Grocer

Regardless of this, however, the Formosan government signed a final contract with the Chung Foo company on Feb. 9, 1950, and the next day the Chinese air force in Washington was ordered by cable to make a million dollars available at the Wells Fargo bank in San Francisco to South China Enterprise, Inc.

In other words the Chinese air force in Washington, having had nothing to do with the purchase of the gasoline, was instructed merely to pay for it.

South China Enterprise Inc., was described as the American agent for the Chung Foo company in Formosa. However, investigation proved it was nothing more than a hole-in-the-wall grocery store in San Francisco's Chinatown.

Patriotic Chinese, who did not want to see their country gypped, investigated further and found that the total assets of the grocery store were only a few hundred dollars. Yet it was supposed to handle a deal involving one million.

Furthermore, the grocery-store proprietor, knowing nothing about gasoline, turned the deal over to another middleman named Alexander Lindenbaur, who then contracted to buy the gas from Cities Service.

In other words, the Chinese government could have bought the gas direct from Cities Service in the first place, instead of which it went through three middlemen—the broker in Formosa, the grocery store in San Francisco's Chinatown, and Alexander Lindenbaum.

The man who placed the gasoline order was Gen. C. J. Chou, Chiang Kai-shek's chief of staff, whose rank corresponds to that of General Bradley in the United States.

In the end, the deal was stopped when it reached the ears of conscientious Sen. William Knowland of California.

Russian Driving Licenses

There is one interesting sidelight about the plan to make Russian diplomats in Washington take the same stiff auto-driver test that our diplomats are given in Moscow. American diplomats are almost forced to qualify as mechanics before getting a driver's license — which, of course, is for the purpose of making them use Russian chauffeurs in Moscow.

What the American public does not know, however, is that Soviet diplomats figured two months ago that we might make them take the same kind of stiff test. So, two months ago, the Russian embassy hired several "learn-to-drive" experts to teach its staff all the technical details of auto repair.

For weeks since then, the "learn-to-drive" cars arrived in front of the Soviet embassy, picked up a Red diplomat and went careening down 16th street in another minor skirmish in the global cold war.

Rededicating the Declaration

The experience of two newspapers in widely separated parts of the country — New Orleans and Madison, Wis. — in having people refuse to sign the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights, has started a campaign or a re-dedication of the Declaration.

The Sertoma club (service to mankind) of Richmond, Va., has contributed $500 to pay for copies of the Declaration of Independence to be hung in school rooms. Other Virginians, the state which gave the author of the Declaration to the nation, are promoting ways and means of re-dedicating the Declaration, among them August Dietz of the Dietz Press, who has undertaken to print copies of the Declaration at cost, suitable for framing.

And in New York, Spyros Skouras, head of 20th Century-Fox, has undertaken to highlight the ideals and message of the Declaration of Independence by newsreel. Skouras, who was born in Greece, says: "When I was a boy I wasn't lucky enough to study the Declaration of Independence or have the advantage of its great freedoms. Now I do. And I want to do anything I can to help in its appreciation."

Washington Pipeline

The Senate crime committee's chief counsel, Richard Moser, made a secret visit last week to Mexico City to question New York's former mayor, William O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico. O'Dwyer spent the time bitterly denouncing two members of the crime committee — Senators Kefauver of Tennessee and Tobey of New Hampshire. . . . A Communist statement at the cease fire talks caused General Ridgway to throw an American and two South Korean divisions into the present "limited offensive" on the central front. Gen. Nam IL, the chief Communist negotiator, had repeatedly complained against Allied bombings while the truce talks were in progress, then suddenly he reversed himself after the agenda was agreed upon and announced it was his understanding that the fighting would continue during the talks. This made General Ridgway suspicious, so he ordered a limited offensive to probe enemy positions and find out what the Communists are up to.

Looking Backward

Forty Years

A horse of William Sharp, pulling a surrey, became frightened at some of the paraphernilia of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus at Liberty park, ran away and the surrey struck a telephone pole. The vehicle was badly damaged but Mr. Sharp, his wife and grandchildren escaped injury.

Wid F. Logan, a Santa Fe operator at Topeka, Kas., was here on a visit with relatives.

Rev. Douglass Atwill, rector of Calvary Episcopal church, left for Boonville to conduct a funeral service.

Daniel O'Donovan, formerly superintendent of the Sedalia Light and Traction company, now yardmaster for the Chesapeake and Ohio railway at Russell, Ky., was recovering there from a severe attack of typhoid fever.

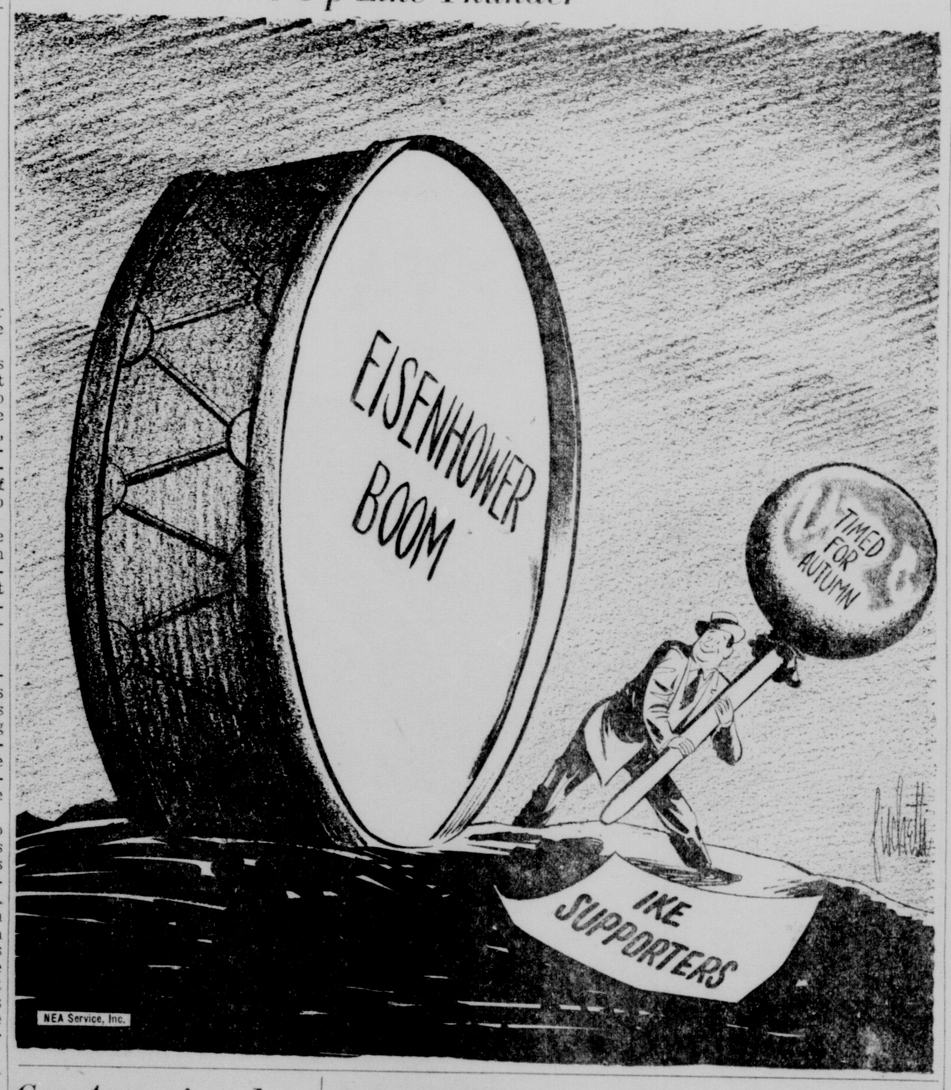

Conductor Frank Staples, of the Missouri Pacific, and Mrs. Staples, were having a visit in England while on a tour of certain parts of Europe.

Get-Acquainted Celebration at O.K. Rubber

Jul Tacke, manager of the O. K. Rubber Welder Shop at 540 East Third, announced today that his shop will hold a two-day 'Get-Acquainted" celebration on August 10th and 11th. Features of the two days will include free coffee and doughnuts, reduced prices on recap tires and grand prizes as a climax to the celebration.

Tacke, who came to Sedalia from Warrensburg, Mo., has had twelve years of experience in tire engineering and is manager of the O. K. Rubber Welder Shop at 540 East Third, formerly owned and operated by Walt Babcock.

Tires from 550x16 to large truck and bus tires, up to 1200x20 can be handled, in many different tread designs at the O. K. Rubber Welding Shop.

The O. K. Rubber Welding Shop in Sedalia is a member of the nation-wide organization, going by the same name. Over 1,100 individually-owned and operated stores are located throughout the United States.

Shorter Hours For Executives Urged

BRUSSELS—(AP)—The hustling business executive who works night and day is indirectly sabottaging his firm.

This is one of the conclusions reached by Lt. Col. Lydall Ulrick, chairman of the British Institute of Management attending the Ninth International General Management Conference recently held in Brussels.

At a press conference Col. Ulrick said it was time a 5-day week was inaugurated for the management side of industry.

"You get less work in the long run from a man who overworks himself," he said. He was appalled, he said, by the number of executives who crack up in the middle fifties because of overwork "thus becoming a loss to the firm and to the nation."

The flashes of fireflies are their "mating call."

Try to Ease Dad's Burden as Middle-Age Comes Near

"Currently, the odds are two to one that the wife will outlive her husband," a life insurance company informs me.

Those are disheartening figures for both husbands and wives. For what wife can take joy in the thought that there is a two-to-one chance she will outlive her husband, and spend the last years of her life in lonely widowhood?

There ought to be something wives could do to more nearly equalize those figures. And maybe there is.

During the early years of marriage the wife probably works as hard or harder than her husband. If there are no children chances are she has job and does her housework on top of that.

If there are children and she does all of her own work, her job is likely more demanding than her husband's.

But those years hurry by, and by the time her children are old enough to look after themselves the housewife finds her job fairly easy. For one thing, she has become experienced enough to know all the short cuts and most efficient ways of doing thinks.

For another, the actual work she has to do is cut, perhaps, in half—so that she can slow down gradually and take it easy when she feels like it.

Hubby Carries The Load

But during the middle years when the wife is able to slow her pace, many a husband is carrying the bigest burden of her life. That is just the time when Mama figures she'll never get that bigger house unless she gets it now, when she decides that clothes are more improtant to her than ever, when she is convinced that the kids all have to have every thing their friends have. So poor Papa has to work harder and worry more than ever in order to foot the bills.

Any wife who wants to cut down her chances of spending the last years of her life alone ought to start during the middle years when her own life has slowed down to figure out ways of making things easier for her husband, too. The best way she can do that is to trim her wants and her children's wants.

Develop a Hobby Now And Have Peace of Mind Later

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

It was called to my attention recently that there are about thirty-one million men and women in the United States between 45 and 64 years of age. With the standards of health as high as they are now most of us will reach the classical retirement age of sixty-five. Many will doubtless keep right on doing what they were before but many will be faced with the loss of their customary occupations.

Never before in our history have we as a nation looked forward to having so many or such a large proportion of elderly people. It raises new problems for us, both individually and collectively. The health of the elderly is certainly one of these. Just passing the age of sixty-five or any other particular year mark, does not mean that one has seen the last of good health and zest for life. Of course there are the ailments of later years but often these can be taken in stride and interfere little with what one wants to do.

Whatever the reason, keeping the mind and body well occupied often seems to affect the health favorably. It is common experience to know some active person who stops work suddenly, has nothing to do and whose health deteriorates spedily. We all think this would not happen to us but it might. Indeed it seems also that those who have developed active hobbies and keep working at them keep their health and interest longer after giving up their main jobs than anyone else. Sometimes they actually accomplish more in some hobby than they did in their principle life's work.

Plan Well Ahead

What all this leads to is that is is better to do a little planning (outside of the financial) before retirement suddenly strikes. And incidentally, though it is important enough—an active, healthy life in the later years will help to lessen the burden on younger people who have problems enough with making a living, raising children and the state of the world.

It is well known that one's mind has a great deal to do with the physical condition of one's body. The later years of life should therefore be faced calmly, confidently, and with the definite object of making the most of them with the least possible strain on the younger generation.

Record of a murder trial in 1850 B. C., written in cuneiform script on a clay tablet, was unearthed in Iraq on the site of the ancient city of Nippur.

An alphabet for writing Quechuan, ancient language of the Iicas still in common use, has been devised and agreed upon by experts in the field.

The EMERALD CRESTED HOOPOE

by Gordon MacCreagh

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Alan Barton, an animal trapper, has agreed to search the Indo-China jungles for an emerald crested hoopoe, believed extinct. Alan knows this is a dangerous mission, because one American already has been murdered in seeking this bird. Alan tells George Benoit, who is his backer, that the most important thing to come alive out of the jungle "is ME."

* * *

IV

ALAN BARTON left that to soak in on Georges Benoit, slammed the door and went to scowl over the rail at the dark shore line slipping by, close enough sometimes for an agile man who didn't know so much about the ways of boats to make a leap that would lead to the less mysterious jungle that he knew better.

An American had been killed—for what? For a silly information about a rare bird? Ridiculous. Alan spat into the dark water and felt his way, bumping amongst rattan deck chairs, to his cabin.

His hand was on the door knob when he stopped, his breath, his nerves, his muscles stone still. He was sure he had closed that door behind him. Somebody had been in during those 15 minutes or so. Or—Alan put fingers to his lips and wetted his nostrils the way jungle animals do to catch fleeting scents. Noiselessly he lowered his face along the door's open crack. And he got it. Faintly acrid, sweaty, betel-nutty.

Alan pushed the door open and stood aside. Nothing hurtled out of the dim interior. So it would not be some petty sneak thief. People who didn't want to escape. Alan knew, waited behind an opening door for unsuspicious chumps to walk in. Alan shoved the door suddenly hard over. He felt it clunk against a bonily soft resistance. With his other hand he snapped on the light.

An Annamese, monkey-sized, crouched against the wall, with a half-monkey fear in his eyes at the upsetting of his strategy. Of course he had a knife, a short wavy Malay kriss. Alan slammed the door against him again. The man squeaked. Alan slapped the man across his eyes, twisted the kriss from him and grabbed him by his knot of greasy hair and hauled him erect.

And then he didn't know what to do. He knew nothing of the language to slap information out of the man. He listened hopefully. The man only chattered.

Alan felt more alone than ever. He didn't know who might be possibly at least not hostile to a lonely American. He would have to play this game through alone. He lifted the man by the scruff and a fistful of bagged coolie pants, carried him to the ship's side and pitched him over. The close dark jungle said nothing.

* * *

MORNING found the river steamer tied to a tree top. They were in the Tonle Sap. Here the rainy season filled up whole sections of the Mekong Valley till only the trees showed. Children screamed and waved from their nests in the high branches like little orang-outans. Their parents stretched miles of nets to trap the fish that would be left when the waters would diminish. Uncle Ho was blandly promising the people he would do something about it.

Benoit appeared at his side at the rail. He nodded out at the fantastic scene. "A problem, is it not? And our government, alas, does not have the effrontery to promise the cure. Come, let us do the petit dejeuner. Do you take wine with your chocolate?"

Whatever might be not so obvious about him, this Benoit was obviously cheerful about it. His happiness did not last. A voice from behind his chair said:

"Oh, halo, Monsieur Benoit."

Benoit jerked to stiffness. Only his eyes turned to watch a darkly massive man come into view. As tall as Alan and much meatier, though hardly soft, the man's face had the bold assurance of power. He eased himself, uninvited, into a chair with the privilege of an old friend. He spoke in English. Alan guessed his accent Colonial Dutch, or maybe again, Eurasian.

"So you go on a little trip, eh Benoit? Where to?"

Benoit seemed to know it would be useless to tell the man to mind his own business. He said, "To Pnom Penh."

"Oh, verree good!" the man exclaimed. "I, too. I drink a leetle of your always so good wine to our meeting there."

"We shall not be staying." Benoit's voluable hand indicated that only Alan knew where they went.

The man heaved himself up and enormously bowed. "I am Peter Vroom."

Alan responded. Vroom sat down and looked him over with undisguised appraisal. Benoit explained to him. "A zoologist of eminence. A collector—tigers, rhinoceros, elephant." The hands enlarged each variety. He did not mention birds.

Vroom's heavy eyelids could not veil his avid interest.

"Ah? So you go, then, I theenk, into the Dudung?"

Alan laughed at him. "We collectors never give away our hunting grounds till after we've scooped the cream."

* * *

THE heavy lids lifted for a moment to show a gleam like a leopard's appraising a kill before leaping.

Vroom lifted his glass. "To our meeting." He heaved himself up. "For your apertif, friend Benoit, my thanks." He departed.

Alan frowned thoughtfully after the man. He knew leopards. Then he noted Benoit's personal servant was putting away something under his loose coolie blouse. It looked like a knife. There was a thin satisfaction in feeling that, even though much of the country might be against Alan, at least it was not unanimous about it.

"Fathead!" Benoit snapped in French. "It is not apertif. It is wine."

Cut Channel to Barges

The U. S. Engineers' dredge Meriweather Lewis begins the task of cutting a navigation path to the barges stranded since July 13 when the flooding Kansas and Missouri rivers deposited a sandbar at Municipal wharf in Kansas City, Mo., stranding the barges and almost closing the Missouri to navigation. Average American Paid $360 In Taxes During Last Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—Tax payments to federal, state and local governments came to an average of $360 last year for every man, woman and child in the country, the census bureau reported.

This $30-a-month average showed the per-person tax burden as more than doubled in a period of eight years. The annual average was $171 as late as 1942, the bureau said.

Of the $360 per-person collections of 1950, the federal government got $248, or about 70 per cent of the total. The states got $59, local governments $53.

Over-all collections of the federal, state and local governments set a record high of $54,626,000 in 1950, the bureau said, nosing above 1948's previous record of $54,495,000,000.

But not even that all-governments total will hold a candle to collections of the federal government alone in the present fiscal year, which began July 1. Estimates for federal receipts in this period range up to $61,000,000,000.

The census bureau said the two per cent gain in tax collections in 1950 as compared with 1949 resulted from a seven per cent gain in state taxes (from $8,349,000,000 to $8,940,000,000) and an eight per cent gain in local taxes (from $7,417,000,000 to $8,002,000,000).

Federal collections in that period, it observed, "decreased slightly from $37,810,000,000 to $37,684,000,000."

The bureau observed that collections on each level of government has its own direct spending, since the federal government makes grants to the states and the states often make grants to local governments.

Federals Got The Bulk

"Taking account of such intergovernmental transfers, the federal government had 63 per cent of total government revenue in 1950 for its own purposes, local governments 23 per cent, and the states 14 per cent," the bureau said.

Individual income taxes were the biggest revenue raisers in 1950, bringing in $16,472,000,000 or 29 per cent of all governmental revenue. The yield was up two per cent from 1949, but well below 1948's record of $19,762,000,000.

On a per-person basis, individual income tax payments amounted to $109, with the federal government collecting about 95 per cent of it.

Sales and gross receipts taxes—including levies on gasoline, alcoholic beverages and cigarettes as well as "general" sales taxes—provided $12,986,000,000 to governmental bodies in 1950 against $12,596,000,000 in 1949.

29 Soldiers Injured In Bazooka Explosion

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky., Aug. 9—(AP)—Twenty-nine soldiers were injured when a 3.5 inch bazooka shell exploded on a firing range Wednesday. Four were in a serious condition.

Col. Reginald Jackson, public information officer, said the men were members of E and F companies, second battalion, 503rd infantry regiment.

Jackson said the shell apparently exploded just after leaving the barrel of the weapon.

The range is located about 15 miles from the main portion of the base. The wounded were flown from the area in small planes and were taken to the base hospital for treatment.

Communists Anxious to Resume Talks

Peiping radio, said:

"We have already solemnly guaranteed the strict adherence to the agreement concerning the neutralization of Kaesong and as long as you have no intention of creating tincidents as measures to halt the truce conferences, we, on our side, cannot conceive of the occurrence of a situation in the future not enabling the complete enforcement of the agreement . . .

"We hope that you will order your representatives to come to Kaesong and continue the discussion."

The five allied negotiators were at their "peace camp" in Korea ready to return to Kaesong if Ridgway so directs them. News correspondents near the negotiators advance headquarters were told tonight to "stand by" and not leave their press train.

There have been no negotiations for five days. They were broken off last Sunday by General Ridgway after a company of armed Reds marched through the neutral zone Saturday. Ridgway demanded an explanation and assurances it would not happen again.

In his Tuesday message he asked still stronger assurances.

UN Forces in 'Iron Triangle'

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 9—(AP)—Tank-led United Nations forces lumbered through the mud into Pyonggang yesterday and found that Red troops have abandoned their former "Iron Triangle" stronghold for the second time.

The Allied force was in the city for an hour and then withdrew. It was the first time in three weeks that U. N. forces had penetrated the town on the central front, 28 miles north of the 38th parallel.

Along the western front Red troops mounted two small probing attacks west of Chorwon.

Carrier-based planes ducked under storm clouds to hit Red troops "in the vicinity of the Han estuary," a U. N. communique said. The estuary runs 10 to 15 miles south of Kaesong, site of armistice talks.

Deny Attack on Red Supply Truck

TOKYO, Aug. 9—(AP)—The Communist cease-fire delegation today charged—and the U.N. senior delegate firmly denied—that allied warplanes attacked a Red supply truck between Kaesong and Pyongyang Tuesday in "a clear violation of the agreement between both sides."

The charge was contained in a note addressed to Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior allied delegate to the Kaesong talks. It was signed by Lt. Gen. Nam Il, top Red delegate.

Fourteen New Teachers in Schools Here

Nob. 22 and 23 for Thanksgiving.

Dismiss Friday, Dec. 21, for Christmas vacation.

School resumes Jan. 2, 1952.

Smith - Cotton commencement, Monday, May 26.

Hubbard commencement, Tuesday, May 27.

School closes, Tuesday, May 27.

Commencement dates at Smith-Cotton and Hubbard were moved back to allow students to enjoy an extended Christmas vacation—New Year's Day actually is not a legal school holiday and was not observed last school year.

Vacational Agriculture

After scheduled business had been disposed of, the board discussed other phases of the system which might stand improvement. Among the things examined were a vocational agricultural school, the building projects, a junior college for Sedalia, and the use of additional rooms at Smith Cotton.

Dr. Floyd Lively asked Dr. Hunt, superintendent of Sedalia Public schools, asked if a vocational agricultural course had ever been considered. Hunt said that a similar plan was once used at Smith Cotton but it wasn't successful. After discussion, the members of the board agreed the project was worth investigating. This will be done in the near future.

No more Extensions

The building project arose when one member of the board questioned the slowness in which some of the buildings are being erected. Hunt pointed out that the contractors had been given two extensions on their original contracts, but the extensions terminate Sept. 1 and the contractors have been informed there would be no more. This means, according to the contract, the contractors will be fined a set amount each day after Sept. 1 until the building is completed.

When questioned by a newly elected member of the board if plans were still in effect for a Junior College in Sedalia, Mr. Hunt said that question would be put before the people of this community next year.

The additional rooms will be used as follows, according to Hunt:

The present library will be used for the typing room, which is now overcrowded. The two new libraries will be used by the (1) Junior high school and (2) the Senior high school. The rooms in the added section will be used for class rooms and the "Little Theater" will be used for dramatics, speech, class meetings, a class room, a music room, and a place for organizations such as the Sedalia Men's Choral club and the Community Players to hold rehersals.

Purchase More Chairs

The board approved purchase of an additional 142 tablet arm chairs for Smith Cotton and Hubbard high schools, nine teachers desks, and 48 primary chairs. The Haller Office Supply company of Sedalia was low bidder for the teachers desks and the Hicks-Ashby furniture firm was the low bidder for the tablet arm chairs and the primary chairs.

John Zander, United Rent-Alls, was awarded a bid on 42, 2½ gallon class A fire extinguishers, one 2½ gallon class B fire extinguisher and one, 2½ gallon anti-freeze. The recomendation to buy this equipment was made for rate reductions on various buildings.

The industrial arts departments of both Smith Cotton and Hubbard high schools are to receive additional "shop" equipment. Smith Cotton will receive $338.13 in new equipment and Hubbard will receive $937.40 in new equipment, which includes a Delta planer, a three-horse power motor and a scroll saw.

Janitorial supplies totaling $1,-119.06 were approved for purchase. Payment for June and July bills, June totaling $39,086.67 and July totaling $27,403.48, were also approved by the board.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ferguson and children, Jack, Jim and Jean of LeGrange, Ill., are here for a visit with Mr. Ferguson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson and his sister, Miss Margaret Ferguson, 1600 West Seventh.

Mrs. Clara Wilson of the millinery department at Flowers will leave Friday for St. Louis where she will purchase fall merchandise for her department.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goddard, 406 South Quincy, are on a vacation trip and will visit in Springfield and Ottawa, Kas.

Mr. and Mrs. Burbank Young are here for a visit with Mrs. Young's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell, 319 East Broadway. They will be here two weeks, will then go to Joliet, Ill., for a visit with Mr. Young's mother and then to Canada after which they will go to Ames, Ia., where they will both enter college.

Cpl. John E. Brown, who is stationed at Bolling Air Base in Virginia, is on a two weeks furlough which he is spending with his parents, Mr .and Mrs. John E. Brown, 709 Wilkerson.

Charge of A 'Smear' Campaign

present at the time" the Soviet spy ring came to the notice of Japanese intelligence agents during the war.

"Otherwise," the general said, "he would have been arrested."

Simultaneously, the House un-American activities committee swung into action with its hearings on the espionage network.

The spy ring, working in Japan under the direction of Dr. Richard Sorge, a German Communist, tipped Moscow on war plans of the Axis powers.

Jump On House

In linking up Willoughby for testimony, the Senate group got the jump on the House committee, which had scheduled the general for hearings Aug. 21 and 22.

The House committee, however, made the Sorge case a two-ring attraction today by calling for testimony on the affair from a pre-war Japanese prosecutor now in the United States studying legislative procedure.

The House witness is Mitsusada Yoshikawa, who questioned Sorge after his arrest in 1941. Yoshikawa was public procurator of the Tokyo district criminal court at the time.

Since early summer, the staff of the un-American activities unit has been studying two foot lockers full of documents relating to the Sorge spy ring, seized by Willoughby from the Japanese.

The lockers are reported to include about three-quarters of a million words of evidence in the case, including a lengthy confession from the spy-master written in prison before his execution in 1944.

Members of the House committee appeared surprised and somewhat miffed because the Senate group arranged for Willoughby to give his testimony there first. There was some talk that the general might not be called before the un-American activities group, as a result.

The Senate subcommittee, headed by Senator McCarran (D-Nev), is investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR) in connection with a probe for any subversive influences on American policies in the Far East.

McCarran said in advance that the questioning of Willoughby would be "confined to the aspect of the Richard Sorge Soviet spy case which relates to the personnel involved in the Institute of Pacific relations."

Set Up Ring In 1933

The IPR is a private organization founded about 25 years ago for the avowed purpose of objective study of Far Eastern problems.

Sorge set up his spy ring in Japan in 1933. He had joined the Nazi party as a cover for his operations and showed up in Tokyo as a correspondent for a German newspaper.

He worked his way into the confidence of Lt. Col. Eugene Ott, assistant military attache at the German embassy there and later the German ambassador to Japan.

Ott later appointed Sorge the press attache at the embassy. Sorge relayed to his masters in the Kremlin the information he gleaned about Axis plans.

He reportedly tipped Moscow in May, 1941, on the attack Germany loosed against Russia the next month and also on the intention of the Japanese to drive south in Asia rather than attack Siberia.

McCarthy is Giving Names To Senate

to a Communist spy ring courier.

McCarthy said he had turned over a total of 106 names of government employees suspected for loyalty but that 28 of them had been cleared.

McCarthy twitted the Democrats by noting that former Democratic leader Lucas (Ill.), who challenged McCarthy last year to make names public, "is no longer with us," and that Senator Tydings (D-Md.) "also is no longer with us."

Made Investigation

Tydings conducted an investigation last year of McCarthy's charges of Communist infiltration of the State Department and was one of a Democratic committee majority which called the charges a "fraud."

Both Lucas and Tydings were defeated for re-election.

McCarthy took a personal hand in helping John Marshall Butler, Republican, campaign against Tydings. A Senate investigating committee has criticized McCarthy's conduct in the campaign.

Would Investigate McCarthy

Chairman Gillette (D-Ia) of the subcommittee that policed last year's election campaign, said, meanwhile, that action on a request for an investigation of McCarthy, himself, probably will be delayed "at least six weeks."

Truman Backs Boyle 100 Per Cent He Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—President Truman said today he is backing Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle 100 per cent and wants him to stay in his job.

Boyle has been under fire on charges that he accepted fees to help a St. Louis printing firm get a big government loan. He has denied that.

In two recent meetings with reporters, Mr. Truman had said he was looking into the allegations.

Today, he said he is convinced "Mr. Boyle had nothing to do with the approval of those loans."

He said he supported Boyle in the later's decision not to resign from the committee chairmanship.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Nancy Deuschle

Mrs. Nancy Deuschle, 80, 309 East 7th, died at her home where she resided with her son George, at 10 a. m. today.

She was born in Louisville, Ky., January 11, 1871, the daughter of the late John and Sarah Sowers. She married Jacob Deuschle at Clear Creek, Mo., October 15, 1896. Mrs. Deuschle has been a resident of Sedalia for 30 years. She was a member of the Fifth Street Methodist church.

She was preceded in death by her husband Jacob, who died May 15, 1945. Also four sisters and two brothers preceded her in death.

She is survived by two foster sons, George of 309 East 7th and Arthur of 316 East Main; eight grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Gillespie funeral home on Saturday, August 11th at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. W. C. Bessmer, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed church, will officiate.

Miss Esther Meisenheimer will sing, accompanied by Miss Lillian Fox.

The body is at the Gillespie funeral home.

Burial will be in Clear Creek cemetery.

Funeral of Samuel I. Parsons

Funeral services for Samuel I. Parsons, 76, years old, who died at his home, 1616 South Brown Tuesday morning, were held at the Ewing funeral home at 2:30 p. m. today.

Rev. William A. Morgan, pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist church, officiated.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis and Mrs. C. D. Demand sang, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Abide With Me" accompanied by Mrs. Mae Moser at the organ.

Pallbearers were Roy Thurman, Fred DeMoss, Chester Boyd, Walter Shoemaker, Raymod Snow and Thomas Biggs.

Interment was in the Ionia cemetery.

Get Fair Line on Farm System

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—(AP)—The House judiciary subcommittee that has been eyeing organized baseball for two weeks has an open date today and will wind up phase one of the operations tomorrow.

It will hear then from Reps. Price (D-Ill.), Herlong (D-Fla.) and Mills (D-Ark.), all sponsors to exempt the game from anti-trust laws.

Then the inquiry will be shelved until after the World Series in October.

"We don't want to interfere with the playing of the game," Ernest Goldstein, counsel for the committee, told reporters.

"We still want to hear from some club executives, players and sports writers."

"We've made a good start toward learning about the reserve clause and the territorial rights angle" he said. "But no conclusions have been reached. The committee still has to determine whether the clause is needed, and, if so, what kind."

"We've got a fair line on how the farm system works," he went on, "but perhaps we ought to hear from Branch Rickey, the founder of it.

"We only touched on the powers of the high commissioner. That should be gone into further."

Goldstein said the committee hasn't made definite plans regarding future witnesses.

Anti-'Commie' Trend Mounts

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 9—(AP)—The reported flight of almost 4,000,000 North Koreans to the south is regarded here as evidence of mounting anti-Communism in Red-ruled North Korea.

J. Donald Kingsley, director of Korean relief for the U. N., told a news conference he had no doubt these refugees would vote in a free election for the Republic of Korea over the Communist northern regime. They would do this, he said despite the fact that they have subsisted in the south largely on a diet of grass and roots.

Kingsley, just returned from a trip to Korea, described the condition of the refugees as the worst he had ever seen. He said the fact that they continue to flock over the battle lines indicated a really critical situation in the north.

The director of the U. N. Korean reconstruction agency said it would take at least $2,000,000,000 to repair war damage in Korea. He said he thought reconstruction should not end there but should aim at making Korea self-supporting.

Granted Leave of Absence

Mayor Herb Studer granted a 30 day leave of absence today to George Juneau, city parking meter mechanic, to visit his parents in Seattle, Wash., who are ill.

Cards to Blood Bank Workers

Cards from the Red Cross have been mailed to 65 volunteers who assisted at the Blood Bank Monday and Tuesday which read as follows:

"We had a tough job Monday and Tuesday. The weathergods were not with us. We tried, we did our best; 225 pints of blood are on the way to Korea, by our efforts and the donors contribution.

"There is a certain satisfaction in knowning that—we'll try again November 5-6."

One of the great difficulties in the program was the making of appointments which were not kept. Each appointment is made for a certain time and if the person for whom the time is set does not show up there can be no replacement. This prevents scheduling someone else for that time who might have been able to go to the Blood Bank at that time but could not go at any other time.

There were 102 people who made appointments and did not show up, or canceled their appointments. This was one of the reasons that the Blood Bank was short of the quota.

Checking on Job of Boyle

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9 —(AP)— Two Senate committee investigators came here today to check into the employment of William M. Boyle, Jr., Democratic national committee chairman, by a St. Louis firm which borrowed $565,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The investigators, Carmine S. Bellino and William A. Leece, are making a preliminary inquiry for the Senate's investigating subcommittee of the committee on expenditures in executive departments.

Officers of the American Lithofold Corp., here, a printing firm, who already have testified before a federal grand jury investigating James P. Finnegan's official conduct when he was internal revenue collector of St. Louis, were to be questioned by the investigators.

Four Float Down River on Raft

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 9—(AP)—Four young adventurers—two bachelors and two unmarried girls—were floating down the Ohio river again today in what they call an experiment in sociology.

They showed off on their raft "Lethargia" yesterday, hoping to hitch rides all the way to New Orleans. The voyage was interrupted two weeks ago when the raft turned over near here.

Mary Ellin McGrady, 24-year-old sociology student from the University of Michigan, is skipper of the 12 by 20 foot raft. She describes the trip as an experiment to find out how people adjust themselves to living in a small space.

Others on the floating laboratory are Geraldine Garcia, 23, Boston artist; Milton Borden, 30, New Bedford, Mass., and Don Brown, 24, Detroit, another University of Michigan student.

Byrd Forces Win in Virginia

By the Associated Press

The Democratic organization in Virginia headed by U. S. Senator Harry F. Byrd has emerged about as strong as ever from Tuesday's primary elections.

In Mississippi, former governor Hugh White appeared to be one of the two candidates who will battle it out in a run-off primary Aug. 28 for the gubernatorial nomination.

But who his opponent will be remained in doubt. Unofficial, incomplete returns from the first primary Tuesday gave White 84,-321 out of 367,652 votes. The rest of the votes were so split as to make it impossible for any candidate to get a majority, making the run-off the most certain result of the first primary.

In one-party Mississippi, a primary victory is tantamount to election.

Five Injured in Auto Accident

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Aug. 9—(AP)—Five persons were injured none critically, last ni ht when an automobile failed to negotiate a curve on U. S. highway 24 and crashed into three cars parked near a fruit stand.

Police said the driver of the auto was Charles D. McKinney of Marshall, Mo. The 30-year-old motorist suffered cuts and bruises.

Hydrant Flow Swamps Fireman

SAN FERNANDO, Calif.—(AP)—Blaine R. Kensley says he was nearly drowned while fighting a fire.

The city fireman was manning a hose at a residential blaze when the hydrant broke. A great gush of water knocked him against a nearby engine and the stream kept beating at him. After coughing out the water, he was treated at an emergency hospital for a fractured collar bone.

Two-thirds of the coal produced in the United States comes from the Appalachian bituminous coal region.

Imhauser Hangs Up 2 Wins As Chiefs Take Doubleheader

Manager Joe Imhauser hurled both ends of a 5-0 and 6-1 twin victory for his Sedalia Chiefs over the Mexico Ramblers at Liberty Park Wednesday night. Imhauser allowed six hits in each contest, all singles.

The double win boosted the Chiefs back into a tie for the lead in the southern division of the Central Missouri Ban Johnson league with the Moberly Miners. Both clubs own 7-2 records in the second half play.

Unusual Credit

Winning both ends of a doubleheader is considered something out of the ordinary, but pitching the distance in both affairs and being credited with both victories is really unusual. Mexico was unable to score until the final inning of the 7-inning nightcap. In the preceding scoreless 13 innings Mexico was able to get only one man to third base.

In the opener Imhauser struck out four and walked none and in the second affair he whiffed six, passed one. Which gave him ten strikeouts for the night.

The locals placed all their eggs in one basket in the first inning of the first contest, when they scored five runs on three hits and three walks.

Vilmer Opens With a Double

Larry Vilmer started the frame with a double. Ralph Waters followed suit with another two-bagger, Vilmer scoring. Broaddus walked. Holst flied to center for the first out. Brown forced Broaddus at second, Waters taking third on the play. Imhauser walked, loading the bases. Morgan also walked, forcing in Waters with the second run of the inning. Bill Hawley then connected for a triple, the most important hit of the game, clearing the sacks and giving the Chiefs their 5-0 lead.

Imhauser, working like a well oiled machine, sailed home with an easy triumph, allowing no Mexico threats.

Hill Had Good Control

After the first inning, Hill the Mexico moundsman, displayed excellent form in allowing no Sedalia hits or runs. He fanned three and passed five.

Mexico was the home club in the second game and quickly found the Chiefs in the lead. Vilmer, leadoff man, was hit by the pitcher. He advanced to second as Waters bounced to the second baseman. Broaddus sent another bounder to second, which sent Vilmer hustling to third. He then scored on a passed ball by Sullivan, the Mexico catcher.

The Chiefs added a run in the third, two in the fourth, another in the fifth and marked-up their sixth tally in the seventh. In Mexico's half of the seventh they pounced on a tiring Imhauser for three hits and their lone marker.

Douglas hurled the finale for the Ramblers and he allowed the Chiefs but six hits. But four errors by Mexico, two hit batsmen and four walks hampered his effort.

Chief Notes

Columbia dropped out of the first place tie Tuesday night when they split a doubleheader with the Boonville Lions at Boonville.

Sedalia's Bill Holst, leading batter in the southern division, obtained only one hit in five turns Wednesday, which will probably make his batting average skid. But the hit, a triple, gives him the league leadership in that department.

Moberly will risk its share of first place Friday night when that team faces Boonville at the river city.

Play-offs to decide the champion of the initial half will begin Saturday afternoon at Boonville. Columbia, Moberly and Boonville will all be involved in this play. Moberly plays Boonville Saturday and the winner will play Columbia Sunday night at Columbia. Does Columbia get the cream in this deal?

Louis to Keep Busy Fighting

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 9—(AP)—"Sugar Ray" Robinson "didn't seem in the best condition" to Joe Louis when he lost his middleweight crown to Randy Turpin.

Louis based his opinion on motion pictures of the London bout.

"That Turpin looked good," Louis said today, "but Robinson wasn't in really good shape. He couldn't have been after traveling around six or seven European countries, drinking different water and eating all around."

The former heavyweight champion in training here for another comeback fight with Jimmy Bivins in Baltimore next Wednesday has some ideas about condition in his own class.

He predicted Jersey Joe Walcott will be sorry if he doesn't defend his heavyweight title before next year as he's announced.

"He'll suffer for it," said Louis. He added he intends to keep busy fighting and is "pretty sure Ezzard Charles will too."

"With the three of us, age won't make the difference like condition will," figured Louis. He is 37 and noted Walcott "also goes" at the same age. Charles is 30.

Bivins, who Louis says "will be the best fighter I've met on my comeback trail, will be the eighth opponent since he lost to Charles last September.

Feller is Top Winner in Big Leagues

By Jack Hand
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bobby Feller shines like the Feller of old in Cleveland's first place surge to the top of the American league.

With 18 victories in the book, Feller is a sure shot for the 20 club. If he maintains his pace, he could equal his personal high of 27 victories in 1940. So far he's 18-4 with 49 games to play.

Feller pitched Cleveland into the lead for the first time since May 2 when he made St. Louis his 18th victim yesterday, 2-1.

Washington's Bob Porterfield opened the door by knocking his ex-New York Yankee mates out of the lead with a 4-1 triumph.

Boston was rained out of its game with Philadelphia and Chicago, the other first division club, lost ground in bowing to Detroit, 6-5, in 11 innings. The White Sox now trail Cleveland by seven full games.

Two to Dodgers

Brooklyn opened up an 11 game lead in the National, high mark for the year, by sweeping a day-night doubleheader from runner-up New York 7-2 in the afternoon and 7-6 in 10 innings at night. Philadelphia sneaked closer to the Giants by shading Boston, 3-2.

Pittsburgh bombed St. Louis, 10-7 for Murry Dickson's 15th win and Cincinnati took a pair from Chicago, 7-5 and 4-3.

Feller's victory made him top winner in the majors and extended the Indians' streak to seven straight. The Tribe has won 31 of 40 in a drive since June 30.

Larry Doby drove home both runs with a pop double in the fourth inning off Tommy Byrne who gave only five hits but walked nine.

Porterfield had solid hitting support from Mickey Vernon who blasted Vic Raschi for two homers, each with a man on, to account for all Washington runs.

Gil Hodges hit his 32nd homer, Duke Snider No. 23 and Carl Furillo No. 12 in the Dodgers' day win over the Giants' Jim Hearn. Snider and Furillo also homered in the second game.

Pittsburgh collected 14 hits including Gus Bell's homer to nail down Murry Dickson's 15th win, over St. Louis, 10-7. Stan Musial homered for the Cards.

Bowling Alleys To Open Friday

The Sedalia Bowling Lanes, 214 East Second, will be opened on Friday night August 11. The alleys will be open from 7:30 until 11:30 each night until fall when bowling will be opened in the afternoons.

Requests of a large number of bowlers to use the alleys prior to the season for bowling to get in shape for the bowling leagues is the reason for the early opening.

Hodges Again Smacks a Homer

BROOKLYN, Aug. 9—(AP)—Gil Hodges, the Brooklyn Dodgers' home-run hitting first baseman, went back to school and apparently learned his lesson well.

As the result of a half-hour lesson, with Manager Chuck Dressen the teacher, Hodges once again is pacing the National league in home runs. He parked No. 32 into the left field stands of Ebbets Field yesterday to break a deadlock with Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner.

The homer was only his fourth since the All-Star game on July 10 but the genial Dodger has high hopes the blow is the sign that he has regained his batting eye. In Hodges' case perhaps batting stance rather than batting eye might be more accurate.

For Gil was instructed to return to the class room after Dressen noted he had changed his stance at the plate. Hodges had been blanked in 18 times at the plate until he connected with one of Jim Hearn's offerings.

"He was raising his right foot off the ground as he swung," said Dressen, "and thus losing his power since he was off balance. I noticed it in Cincinnati when Willard Ramsdell and Ewell Blackwell completely mystified Gil."

The lesson called for Gil to first bunt the ball with emphasis on keeping his right foot on the ground. Then the pitches were speeded up as Hodges took a full cut at the ball.

"I knew there was something wrong but couldn't figure what it was," said Gil. "I knew I was off balance and thus took my eye off the ball."

Asked if Kiner's recent home-run spurt hadn't put a little pressure on him — perhaps unconsciously, Hodges replied:

"Nope, I'm not worried about Kiner. Let him hit his homers. All I want to do is to connect with the ball and the homers will take care of themselves.

"If it takes a single to win the ball game, then I'll be satisfied with a single. The home run title is nice but most important is that pennant."

Swim Meet By Boy Scouts On Monday

Feature Events And Novelty Stunts at Liberty Park Pool

The Boy Scout Swim Meet to be held at 7:30 Monday evening at the Liberty Park pool in Sedalia will feature five novelty events for Scouts who cannot swim. These are made available so that all boys will have a possibility of entering the water contests and possibly boosting their courage for greater skills in another year.

The novelty events will include the time-honored "jelly-fish float" where the non-swimmer tucks his legs under his chest and holds his breath. The Scout that can remain in this position the longest wins.

"The steamboat race" involves a prone position in the water and kicking like a steamboat to cover the greatest distance. Diving for colorful painted washers will be another event for the non-swimming Scouts. The Scout who collects the greatest number within an alloted time will win.

"The horse and rider" is usually a race with many spills and splashes and the first two boys across the seventy foot pool are the winners.

If a small evening breeze comes up during the "balloon relay," there should be plenty of yellin' and hollerin' from the side-lines. Teams made up of four boys will blow balloons back and forth across the pool four times and with a little wind from the clouds it takes a lot of wind from the Scouts to keep that balloon on the straight and narrow.

Other swimming events will be held for stronger swimmers to add to the enjoyment of those who attend the Boy Scout Swim Meet for all Scouts of the Lake of the Ozark Council.

P. A. Sillers, manager of the pool, announced today that the pool would be closed to the public during the swim meet. However, if the swim-meet was over early, it would be re-opened that evening.

Athletic Commission To Investigate Fight

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9—(AP)—The Missouri Athletic Commission will meet here Saturday (10 a. m. CST) to determine what action, if any, is to be taken against middleweight boxer Cecil Hudson.

The referee stopped Hudson's fight with Rocky Graziano in Kansas City July 10th after Hudson was floored. The referee stated that Hudson had not been hit hard enough to justify the knockdown.

Hudson was fined $1,000 and suspended indefinitely but both actions must be sustained by the commission before they become final.

Hudson's purse was not held up, a commission spokesman said today.

Monarchs Hold Lead In Midget Baseball

Sedalia's midget baseball league, for boys between the ages of 9 and 12, made a slow start in early season, but they appear headed for a big wind-up.

The league started operation in early July with only two teams. In another week, two more teams were added, giving summer recreation to over 50 boys.

The teams each have a manager, who are as follows: Monarchs, John Ginn; Amatuers, Bill Bowers; Eagles, Jim Sands; and the Panthers, Duane Bowers. The Monarchs are leading loop play with three wins and no losses. All the other teams are tied for second with one win and and two losses each.

Sunday three teams visited Windsor where the Monarchs defeated the Windsor Boy Scouts, 9-4 and the Panthers walloped the Amatuers, 13-4. The teams went to Windsor to give that town an idea of Sedalia's project.

At the end of July it appeared the loop would be forced to close shop, due to lack of funds for equipment. Local civic clubs came to the rescue at that time with donations that will insure completion of season's play.

The teams play Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Smith-Cotton.

The 'Teenettes of Sacred Heart Win

The Sacred Heart Teenettes softball team defeated the Boonville girls at Boonville last night by a score of 10 to 6.

The Teenettes will play the T-C girls softball team at Center Park diamond tonight at 8 o'clock.

Burton's Blues Are Toppled By Fulton

The Burton Blues girl's softball team was defeated by Fulton Wednesday evening by a score of 10-5.

The battery for the Blues was Earlene Walz and Dorothy Stockstill.

The local girl's hitting attack was led by Darlene Swearington, who homered for the second time in two games.

Monday night the Blues will meet the Boonville girl's at the 16th and Center diamond.

Reputation As 'Big Liar' Still Grows

By Hal Boyle

CUSTER, S. D.—(AP)—A small droopy-eared burro stood at anchor by a roadside souvenir store here, near where gold was first discovered in the Black Hills in 1874.

Seated in the doorway to the store was a short, white-haired, bushy bearded man who looked like a grizzled old prospector. And that is exactly the way the Ed (Man Mountain) Ryan, who says he is 95 years old, wants to look.

"Ole Ed" used to be known simply as the biggest liar in South Dakota. Now he is known as the biggest liar in South Dakota and Wyoming, and his reputation is still growing.

"I feel bad today," he began, his blue eyes crinkling like a cunning Santa Claus." A terrible thing happened to me this morning.

"I took my pet fish out for a walk. On the way back I took a short cut across the bridge, and she slipped off and drowned in the creek. Forgot how to swim, I guess.

"I'd had her for years. She was already to go to high school. Had her a new dress all bought and everything. She was a fine fish—except for a bad habit she had of telling big fish stories."

His burro, Susie, turned and looked at him reproachfully as Ole Ed finished, then she began nipping at some grass.

Some tourists entered the store and "Man Mountain" went on with his act.

"Once Suzie and I was up in the hills and bumped into a bear cub," he said. "The cub was small for his age. He was only 40 feet long and lacked two ounces of weighing five tons. But he had a mean look in his eyes, and I thought we'd better get out of there.

"So I jumped Suzie off a 500-foot cliff. When we got about three feet from the ground, I hollered 'Whoa' and Suzie stopped. Then I clumb off her back and helped her down the rest of the way."

Suzie turned and gave Ole Ed a long thoughtful stare, then shook her head. And a small bug-eyed boy tugged at his mother's dress and asked, "Did he really do that, Mama?"

Away From Army 75 Years

Another tourist noticed a grave headstone outside bearing the weathered name of "Johnny Pommer" and asked about it. That gave Old Ed a chance to tell his favorite tale—how he escaped being killed with General Custer in 1876 in the Battle of the Little Big Horn.

"I was in the cavalry and Johnny was my buddy," he told the enthralled tourists. "He fell sick of a fever, and Custer ordered me to stay behind until he got well, and then for both of us to rejoin him. But Johnny died—I buried him there—and Custer and all his men were wiped out. Since then I been AWOL from the army for 75 years. The longest on record."

Ole Ed looked at the headstone. His ruddy face crinkled, tears wet his white beard. And he began to whimper like a little lost boy.

"If my buddy hadn't taken sick and died, I'd a been killed with Custer," he sobbed. "He saved my life."

"Poor old man," said a sympathetic woman listener. After the tourists had made their purchases and departed, Ole Ed dried his eyes and said with cheerful pride:

"I can cry in front of anyone I don't know real well."

Actually Ole Ed never rode with Custer or saw Custer. He is 65 not 95 years old, and Custer died 10 years before Ole Ed's birth. And the gentle bewhiskered fraud never was a real prospector. He used to run a filling station. If you tax Old Ed with these facts he readily admits them.

"But my tall tales don't hurt the tourists none," he said. "I just give them what they want. It's kind of like taking them to the movies."

His amiable pretense pay him a good living. He has sold nearly 10,000 copies of his tall-tale autobiography, "Me and the Black Hills" at a buck apiece.

As I left, Ole Ed went back into character.

"I never stay long in one place," he said. "I'm a gypsy at heart. I only been here 77 years."

Suzie, his burro, looked up, shook her head, winked a big sleepy eye, and deliberately folded one long, weary ear over the other. Then she went back to eating grass.

"MO." CORN THAN IOWA—Missouri, that's where the tall corn grows, too, as Phyllis and Dolores Macy of Gallatin, Mo., demonstrate. The two girls are dwarfed by the tall corn stalks on their father's farm, which has been chosen as the site of the Missouri mechanical corn picking contest.

THAT'S Country Club

Only Country Club is made from 2 fully aged beers . . . one light, one dry. Result: mmm! The Bright Beer!

See the brightest spot in the picnic picture? It's that golden, mellow Country Club Beer!

And the reason it makes such a wonderful hit with your guests' taste—and your own—is this . . .

Country Club is two beers in one! One beer is a light beer, complete and perfect in itself. One beer is a dry beer, brewed to perfection, too. Together they add up to a new high note in flavor enjoyment—Country Club, the bright beer!

So next time you're entertaining, remember—the right note is the bright note . . . Country Club!

Peanut Soda? Science Says It's the Nuts

GOOBER GLAMOR: Technician at Southern Research Institute samples peanuts which have been ground up in hopper in foreground for 'milk' shakes.

By Florine Cooter
NEA Special Correspondent

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(NEA)—How about a cone of frozen peanut custard? Or a big creamy-like peanut shake?

Coming right up—perhaps in the near future!

Birmingham's Southern Research Institute has brought a promise of glamor for the lowly goober. After experiments involving a new means of keeping the oil intact with peanut butter and a new type of "free-flowing" nut product obtained by extremely fine grinding, the institute has come up with a formula for a delicious peanut beverage much like chocolate milk, as well as other items resembling milk-based foods such as ice cream.

Main objective of the new "free-flowing nut product," developed by Dr. Joseph E. Vincent and Dr. Wilbur A. Lazier, is its adaptability to many uses never attained by the common nut butters. The free-flowing syrup is the result of grinding shelled nuts, either cooked or uncooked, until essentially all solid particles have been reduced to microscopic size, thus releasing a greater proportion of the nut oil.

Taking the peanut still a step farther, Dr. Jack H. Mitchell, former head of the biochemistry section of the institute, has produced a stable watery emulsion of extremely finely ground peanuts suited as bases for many nut food products. These emulsions, sweetened, flavored and frozen, produce a food rich in nutrition and of a texture similar to ice cream.

The product has characteristics ranging from those of milk to those of a thick custard. It can be a base for many easily prepared food variations and drinks.

Any desired nutritive balance can be achieved in the mentioned confections through supplementary vitamins, amino acids, minerals, etc. The minute size of the solid nut particles makes for more ready digestion than any other nut products and the emulsion may serve as a substitute for milk or cream in many cases.

As in real ice cream, egg yolk may be added to increase the whipping qualities when making frozen confections. The new products also will be used to make custard-like preparations for pies and other bakery products.

This new angle on the peanut looks promising not only to the gourmet, but to the peanut farmer and to the government, now faced with a peanut surplus.

And also possible is a dry concentrate which may be packaged, shipped and stored to be used as needed, without special process or refrigeration before the addition of the water.

Fish Blood Typing Proposed

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—Where do salmon wander after they swim into the sea from their spawning beds in river?

Where do sardines breed? What course do tuna follow in their ocean migrations?

Scientists at Santa Barbara college hope to obtain answers to these and other questions of interest to ocean fishermen by research into the blood types of fish. Dr. John E. Cushing recently launched the program. He and his aides are studying blood samples from salt water fish kept alive in a special aquarium on the campus.

He expects to find that fish have different types of blood, just as humans do, and that through knowledge of the various types of man will be able to trace their paths through the sea. A fish's blood will act as an identification tag, identifying him no matter in what ocean he is found.

Seeing Is Believing

KUAIA LUMPUR — (AP) — Twenty-four Malay aboriginals, headed by their chief, Raja Tom, came to Kuala Lumper airport to see for themselves that all the planes they see in the sky belonged to the government and not the Communist terrorists, as the Reds had been telling them.

"When I go back I will tell my people that the bandits were quite wrong," said Raja Tom.

New Queen of the Musical Comedies 'Never Had Any Doubts' She Was Good

By NEA Service

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The girl who is being hailed as the new queen of Broadway musical comedies isn't surprised at all. Dolores Gray is her name, and she knew she was going to hit the top all along.

"I hope I don't sound conceited," says the tall, blonde Miss Gray, "when I say I've always known I am a good singer. I've never had any doubts."

The morning after she opened with Bert Lahr in "Two On the Aisle" everybody else knew it, too. She had bounced through the surprise hit with big, blonde vitality and a big, blonde voice. She sings loud and clear, and everything she says is perfectly audible in the last row, balcony.

From any place in the theatre, Dolores Gray looks the picture of health. But she says she isn't the least bit healthy. In fact she has to take exceptionally good care of herself to go on at all.

Right after every performance, she goes straight home. She may talk a while with her mother, Mrs. Barbara Gray, and her younger brother, Richard. Then she goes to bed.

"I simply have to," she says, "so I'll be able to put everything I've got into my performance. Every living, breathing ounce of energy has to be conserved.

"I'll drive myself and force myself to the utmost to give the best performance possible—but I won't fritter away my energy on the frivolous and the foolish. I'm not strong enough or healthy enough to do both."

She had a nervous breakdown in England, where she played the leading role in "Annie Get Your Gun" for three years. She suffers from pernicious anemia. She does not smoke or drink, and worries constantly about standing up under the strain of her work. She admits she hasn't the energy for fun or romance.

But she does enjoy her life, because she gets "great satisfaction and joy from a job well done."

She sounds like a dedicated woman, and she is. The musical comedy stage is her big thrill.

"Ever since I was a tiny girl I've wanted to be a big star, and I've always known I would be. My whole life has been planned to that end. Everything I've done has had a purpose. Everything has been one more step forward."

Step one was singing lessons for the Chicagoborn girl. Step two was discovery by Rudy Vallee, who heard her at her vocal studio and put her on his radio program. Then came more engagements on radio and west coast clubs and hotels.

Then she invaded New York, and was booked into the Copacabana. Billy Rose heard her and signed her for his show, "The Seven Lively Arts." More Broadway roles followed, and next she got the coveted chance to sing the Ethel Merman role of Annie in England.

CLOSEUP: "I've always known I'd be a star," says Dolores.

At her audition for Rodgers and Hammerstein — the composers of Annie—she had to resort to a few tricks to get the part.

"I knew they thought I was too glamorous for the role," she says, "so I wore a skirt and blouse and flat shoes. I tied up my hair with a piece of string I found on the stage. I picked up a broom and carried it for the gun Annie carries."

ON STAGE WITH BERT LAHR: Everything Dolores Gray says is perfectly audible in the last row, balcony.

After Annie closed in London, she sang on the Continent for a year before she returned to New York for her current show.

And now she is where she knew all along she would be. From here on, the sky — and her health — is the limit.

Syracuse Club Has Program

The Syracuse Homemakers club met August 2nd with Mrs. Raymond Craig as hostess. A contributed dinner was served at the noon hour, after which the president, Mrs. Lewis Smith called to order and presided over the business meeting. Group singing was led by Mrs. George Putnam. The devotional was given by Mrs. Harold Stahl. Roll call was answered by giving a "sewing hint." The president read the news letter from Miss Katherine Zimmerman. Mrs. D. C. Walters was acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. W. H. Taylor. The Parent Education leader, Mrs. Harold Stahl encouraged all mothers to enter their children at the health clinic at the State Fair in Sedalia.

The program was presented by Mrs. Ray Burns who presented her 4-H sewing class. They gave a demonstration on their work and showed garments they had made. Members of the class present were Mariam Chapman, Cynthia Burns, Jean Willman, Wanda Homan and Donna Yarnell. An article, "What's Your Color," was read by Mrs. Bridges.

There were 17 members and the following visitors present: Mrs. Cora L. Craig of Marshall, Mrs. David Wittman, Mrs. Dick Reagin and Mrs. Roy James Johansen and six children.

The president announced the September meeting will be with Mrs. Harold Stahl, who will also presentthe program on parent education.

Pal gifts were distributed and Mrs. Craige was presented with the basket of hostess gifts.

John Paul Jones Effects Go To Naval Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—(AP)—An extensive collection of items once owned by John Paul Jones now belongs to the U.S. Naval Academy. The relics have been on loan to the Academy for several years and exhibited in the Jones' crypt beneath the chapel and in the Academy museum.

The collection was formally presented to the Academy by Mrs. John L. Senior of Lenox, Mass. Her husband, lawyer and cement industry executive, had assembled the scores of relics as a hobby.

The collection includes the original commission of the country's naval hero. Signed by John Hancock in 1776 and issued to Jones as "Captain in the Navy of the United States," the commission has been appraised at $50,000. Jones carried it with him when he boarded the captured British frigate Serapis from his sinking ship, the Bon Homme Richard.

Campaign Commemorated In Street Name

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—For six years Mrs. J. F. Mattern kicked to city officials because sewers backed up in her neighborhood in rainy weather.

Finally the city solved the problem. Then councilmen named a street for her Mattern Drive—because of her energetic and unrelenting campaign.

Major John Andre, British soldier, was captured behind American lines, where he had gone to negotiate an attack on West Point with Benedict Arnold in 1780, and was hanged as a spy in Tappan, N. Y.

Frank-Ring for TV Supper

By Gaynor Maddox
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Simplicity should be the keynote for a summer buffet or TV party. For beverages, choose carbonated ones to serve with the meal. Thoroughly chilled to insure maximum carbonation, they always add zest and refreshment.

For the main course, serve "franks in a ring." They can be prepared ahead of time. A tangy accompaniment is something new —Tomato Lemon-Lime Aspics.

Franks in a Ring
(Serves 5-8)

Twelve franfurters, 1 cup flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains white pepper, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons milk.

Cut frankfurters in half. Sift flour, baking powder and seasonings together. Cut in butter with pastry blender until mixture has texture of coarse cornmeal. Add milk and blend.

Place dough on floured board and roll out to ⅛-inch thickness; cut into 1-inch strips about 3 inches long. Wrap dough around the middle of frankfurters. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Serve at once.

Note: If frankfurters are to be prepared for baking in advance, spread butter around dough to prevent drying out. Store in refrigerator until needed.

Tomato Lemon-Lime Aspic
(Serves 6)

One and one-half cups tomato juice, 2 crushed bay leaves, 1½ tablespoons gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 teaspoon celery salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon onion juice, ½ cup cubed green pepper, 1 cup lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled.

Simmer tomato juice and bay leaf for 5 minutes. Remove bay leaf. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add tomato juice and seasonings to gelatin. Cool. Slowly add chilled carbonated beverage and green pepper.

Rinse 6 molds with cold water and fill with aspic. Chill until set. Garnish with green pepper rings and serve on crisp lettuce.

MENU

BREAKFAST: Grapes French toast, butter or fortified margarine, syrup, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cheese omelet, buttered peas, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine tea, milk.

TV OR PORCH PARTY: Franks in a ring, potato chips, olives, tomato lemon-lime aspic, hot rolls, butter or fortified margarine, chilled carbonated drinks, coffee.

Scarecrows Mark German Recovery

BERLIN—(AP)—The well-dressed scarecrow is back in business in Berlin's fields and gardens.

For Germany, 1951, that is an economic development. It means the people have enough good clothing now to consign their rags to defend the crops from foraging birds. It also means that scarecrow costumes are now safe from theft by wanderers wearing worse get-ups than the scarecrow.

Vegetable gradeners say it is a good year for the scarecrow to make his comeback. It has been wet and humid for months and things are growing apace. There is almost always a slight breeze blowing, enough to give the ragged figures the life they need to do their job.

Suburban Mixup

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — The board of city directors has adopted a policy of "let sleeping streets lie."

They so decided after residents of a suburb said they had learned their homes were built in the center of a dedicated street. Seems the subdivision's streets did not match up with those plotted on city charts.

The city solved the problem by giving residents on one side of the street 10 feet of land they thought they had owned all along. Residents on the other side lost seven feet they didn't know they had owned.

Paris Fashion Even Brings Back Bustles

Mink Coats Like Sport Shirts (Or How Casual Can You Get)

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — (NEA) — Christian Dior has gone casual.

Jacques Fath has gone back to the 1830's; Jacques Griffe has gone back to the bustle. At Lanvin's, they're keeping the "goblet" silhouette, and Schiaparelli seems to be occupied with the old harem line.

Those are the highlights of the Winter collections of the top Paris fashion designers, in which everybody seems to be going in different directions.

One thing is consistent, however. It is evident that the fashion czars are sublimely oblivious to the eventual cost of their creations and also have forgotten that the modern woman rides subways and buses.

For instance:

Mink coats, split up the sides like sport shirts, in Dior's collection.

Veils with large embroidered eyelashes in the Lanvin showing.

Enormous funnel collars, sloping from eartops to sleeve, by Griffe.

Gloves with dramatic fur cuffs, by Fath, and a black wool coat with enormous puffed cuffs employing more than two yards of fabric, by Schiaparelli.

Those are the whimsies, but most eyes were on the Dior showing, attended by such a throng that the air conditioning gave up.

His modern casual line for daytime features "sentry-box" coats, which look a good deal like raincoats—loose hanging, with buttons from collar to hem. Suits are functional, with box jackets or simple collarless jackets and moderate skirts.

His skirts are about 12 inches from the floor, both for daytime and cocktail wear; the waist line is higher, and sometimes he uses a belt in back at shoulder height.

The Fath 1830 theme employs ultra-wide, bell-shaped skirts swinging over stiffened petticoats with hems at mid-calf. Waists continue waspish, bodices are form-fitting and high straight collars hug the ears.

The bustle brought back by Griffe is featured in both daytime dresses and lavish evening gowns. Sometimes the bustle shifts to the front, where it is called a half-crinoline. In any case, it completely modifies the feminine silhouette.

For Desses, the new 1951 silhouette shows women with a high bosom and a backward sweep to their skirts, reminiscent of Gibson Girl styles but modernized.

His Bluebird theme and Bell line abandon the straight, narrow sheath for moderately wide skirts worn over stiffened petticoats. Skirts have "magpie tail" panels, side panels shooting backward in a windblown effect, or else remind viewers of riding habits.

Schiaparelli's collection, featuring the tucked-under hems of skirts and coats, are more like the old harem line, although it's supposed to feature the world's oceans and seas. Some of her evening gowns evoke thoughts of whirling dervishes. Daytime wear is practical and functional, with slender skirts topped by smooth jackets.

Corn on the Cob!

A&P

Customers' Corner

Have you noticed that chickens generally are plumper, meatier than they were a few years ago?

The principal reason for this is the "Chicken - of - Tomorrow" breeding program, sponsored by A&P with the cooperation of the poultry industry.

This six-year program has resulted in chickens that mature when they are younger and more tender, and have more meat in relation to bone.

Why don't you try the superior chickens at your A&P and let us know what you think of them? Please write:

Souvenir From Indian Village

Hoosiers Find 'Little White Flower' in Colorado

UNDER A PINE TREE Mr. and Mrs. Carl Herkless found "Little White Flower." Now, in clean clothes and a quiet Indiana home, she's Linda Mae Herkless.

By NEA Service

ELWOOD, Ind. — (NEA) — Most people who visit native Indian villages come back with a few Indian trinkets. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Herkless came back with an Indian. But a very little Indian.

The Herklesses left their quiet home on a quiet street for a Summer vacation out west. They went to Colorado, to visit their adopted son, Gene, now a soldier. It was his being away that made their home a little too quiet.

One thing they wanted to do in Colorado was visit an Indian village. The three walked through like thousands of tourists, buying souvenirs and taking pictures. But their tour ended by being far from routine.

Mrs. Herkless heard a thin, crying noise.

"It was as though a hungry little kitten was complaining at supper time," she says.

They followed the sound and found a baby girl, wrapped in a dirty blanket lying underneath a pine tree. Mrs. Herkless picked the infant up and they walked back to the center of the village.

Local officials searched and decided that the six-month-old, brown-eyed, Cherokee girl had been abandoned. But they kept on looking for the parents. Gene Herkless had to report back to camp, as his furlough was up, but his parents stayed on.

The Indian couple was found, and it was quite plain they didn't want the child. When they learned the Herklesses wanted to help, the mother and father asked, simply, why the strangers didn't take "Little White Flower" home with them.

Until the actual request was made, the Herklesses hadn't said a word about taking the child. But each knew the other wanted to, very badly. They talked to local authorities and to an attorney. And Gene got a 24-hour pass to give the final OK.

Gene asked only one question: "Mother, do you want the baby?" She said she did, and Gene said, "Then, by all means, adopt her."

It didn't take long for the law to declare the baby was legally adopted by "the white people from Indiana." When they got ready for the long trip back home, not one Indian merchant would accept money for gasoline or food. They pressed gifts on the Herklesses, things for "Little White Flower" who is now Linda Mae Herkless.

In their home town, a doctor pronounced the child in normal health, although a bit undernourished. And the little Indian baby was officially christened at the Herkless' church.

"It seems a bit strange," says Mrs. Herkless, "to be buying baby furniture again, but it gives us a thrill. And Gene writes he can hardly wait to see his little sister again."

HOW ARE THINGS IN KAESONG?—Catching up on the news from the Kaesong cease-fire negotiations are these Yank infantrymen, members of a recoilless rifle team which had just helped UN troops storm and capture "million dollar mountain" in Central Korea. The hill, captured by the GI's in the face of heavy machine-gun fire, took its name from the "million dollars' worth" of UN ammunition spent on it before it fell. (NEA-Acme Telephoto by Staff Photographer Walter Lea.)

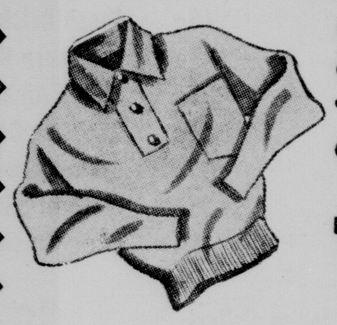

FIRST FROM UN — Just released by the secretary-general of the United Nations in New York are these photographs of two of eight designs selected for the first UN postage stamps to be issued this Fall. The UN building design, top, made by Mexican artist Leon Helguera, will be used for 1½-cent and 50-cent denominations. The "Peace, Justice, Security" stamp, below, designed by Netherlands artist J. F. Doeve, will be two-cent and one-dollar stamps.
